HISTORY OF FRAM

Fifty-four years ago a Norwegian frigate set sail for the far North. In charge of this exploration was Dr. Fridtjof Nansen who braved the treacherous North for three year. Upon returning to Norway, Dr. Nansen was widely acclaimed for his new discoveries and explorations.

However, the true spirit of this voyage was represented in his sturdy little ship, the FRAM, whose name means "forward." It was in this same spirit of forwardness and achievement that our school honored this Norwegian craft by naming our yearbook the FRAM.

Mr. Karl E. Whinnery

The editors of the 1947 FRAM, in recognition of Mr. Whinnery's many years of service to the Sandusky Public Schools, take pleasure in respectfully dedicating this volume to him.

After the First World War, during which he served as a captain in the 332nd United States Infantry, he was called to Sandusky to assume the position of principal of the senior high school. He continued in this capacity until April 1, 1939, when he was appointed superintendent of schools.

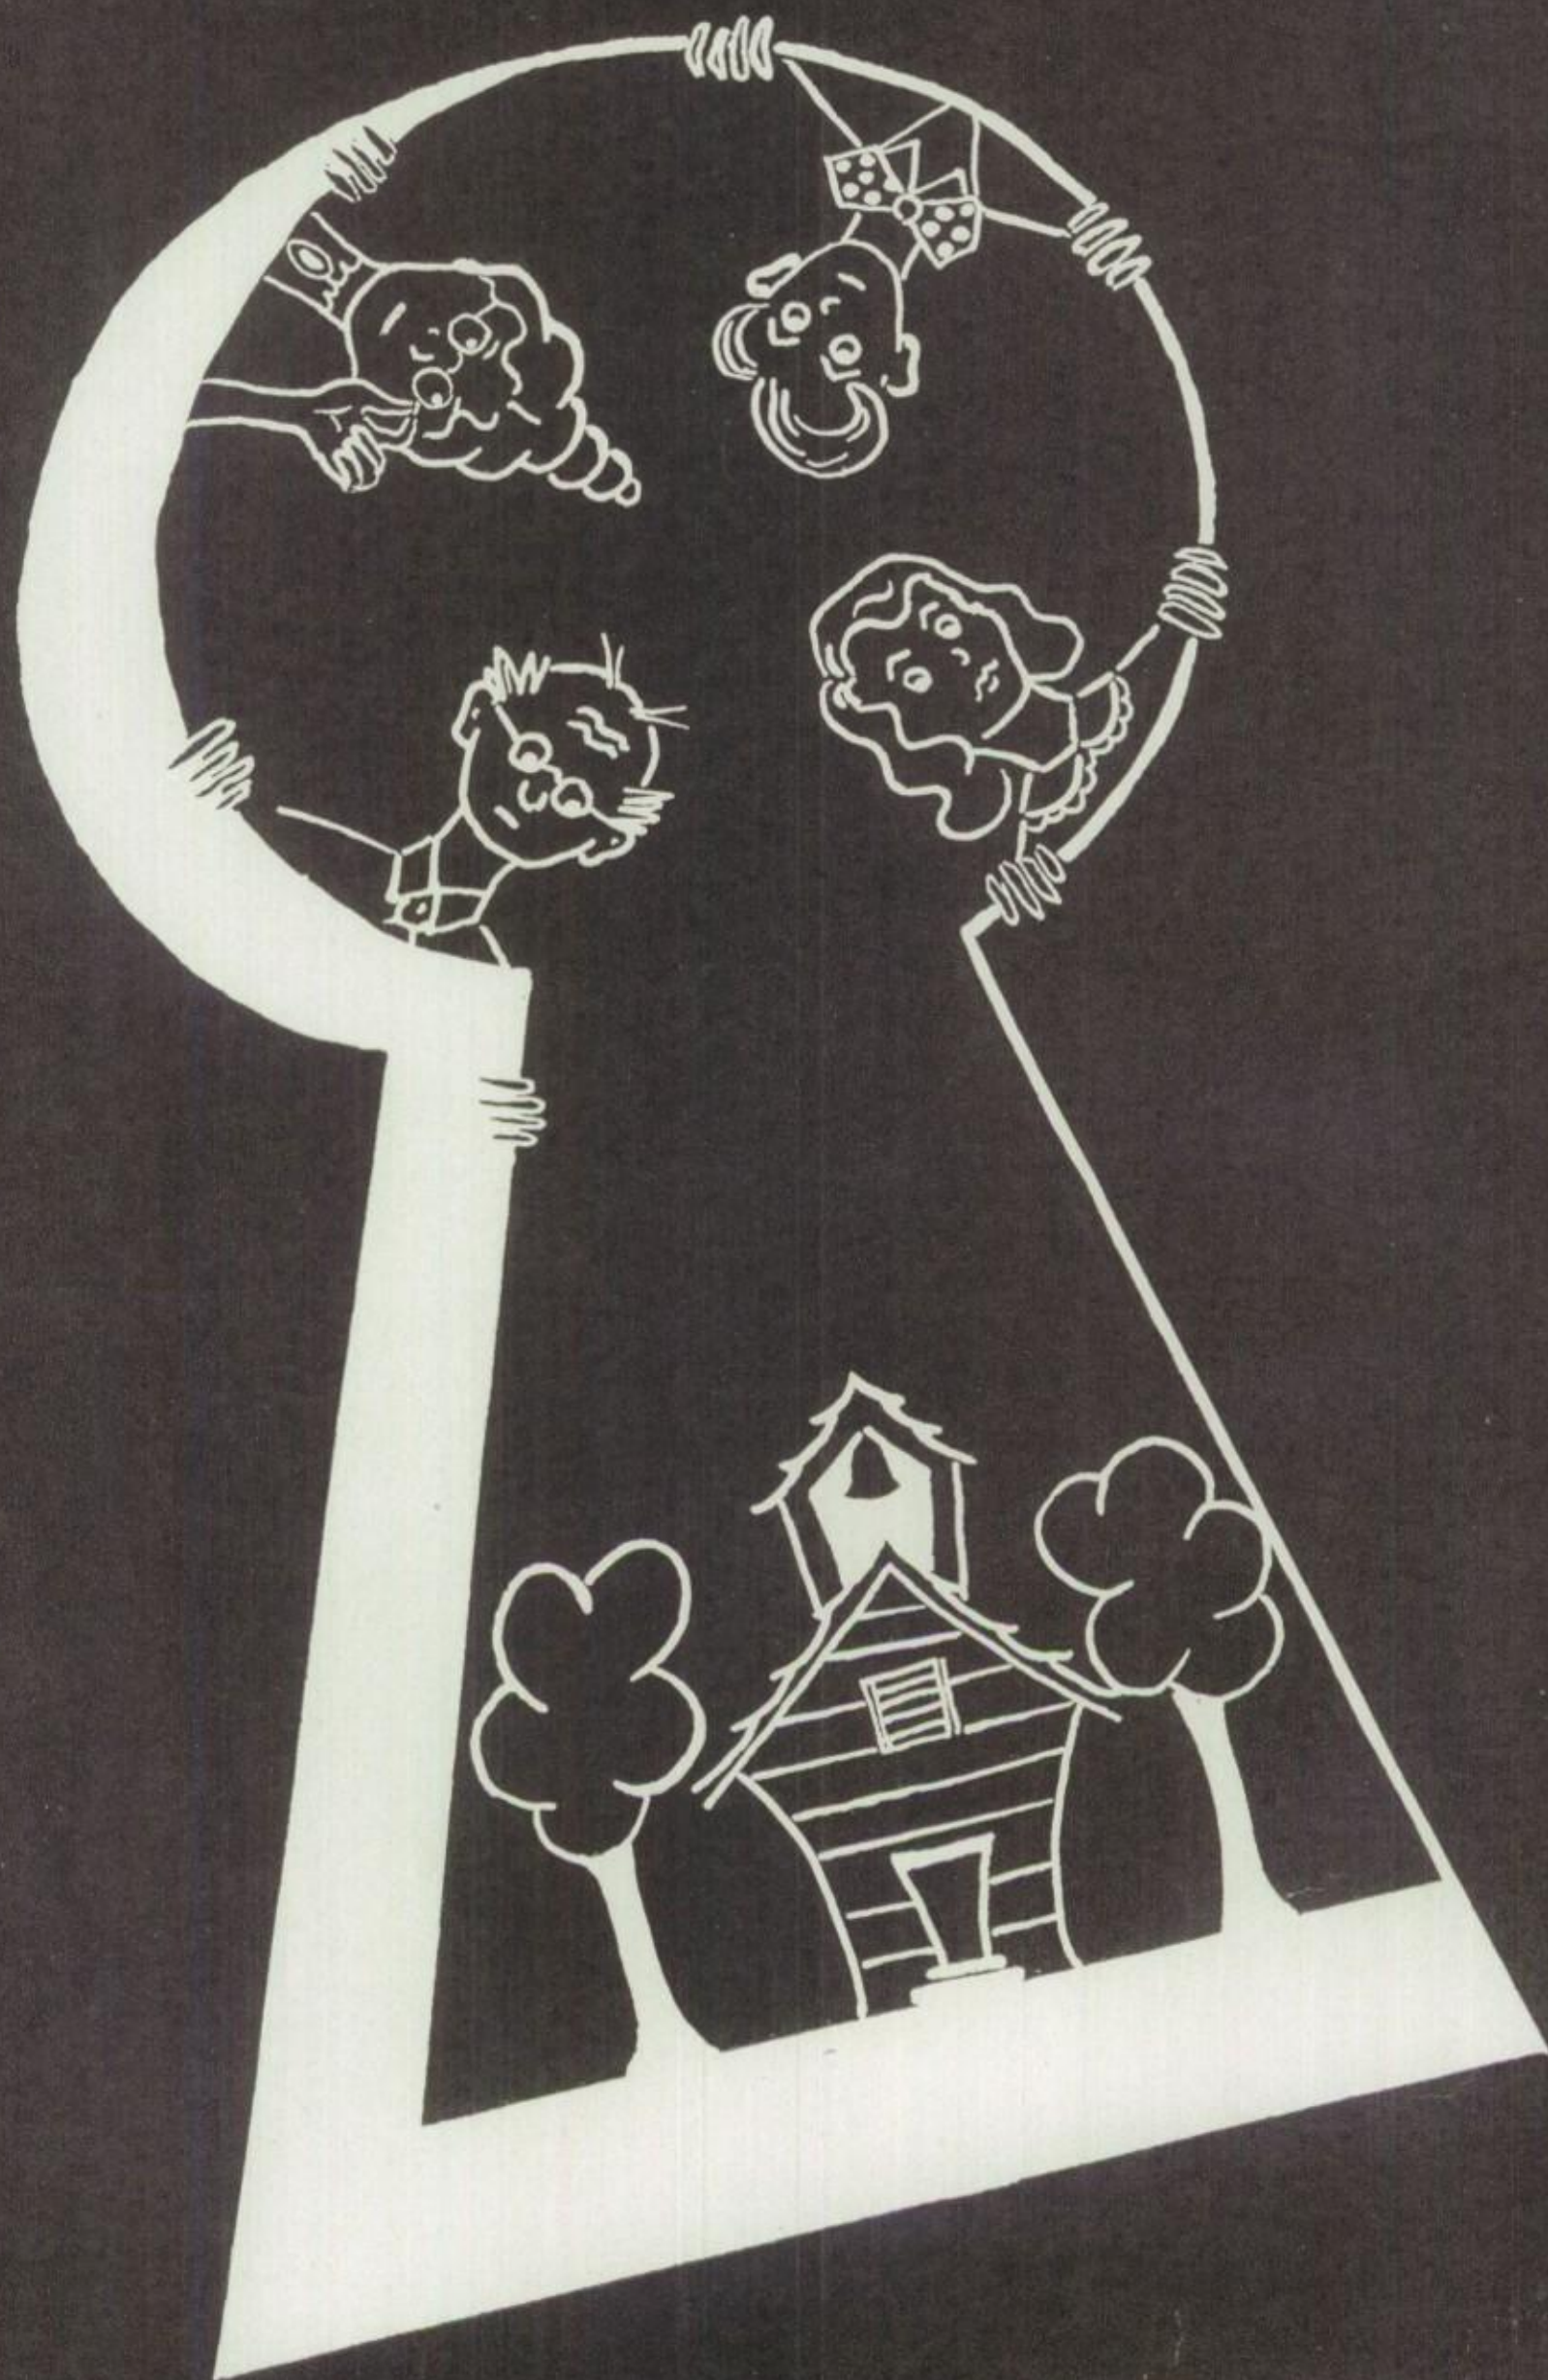

Mr. Whinnery has always been known as an advance thinker in methods and curricula, never satisfied with obsolete or ineffective teaching methods. He has represented the school in state and sectional educational organizations, where his opinion carried weight.

Not only the Sandusky Public Schools have benefited from his understanding and guidance, but also numerous church, club, and civic movements have profited from his generous attention and tireless efforts.

With this dedication the FRAM staff extends hearty congratulations and speaks for the entire student body in voicing its appreciation and best wishes to Superintendent of Schools Karl E. Whinnery.

Mr. and Mrs. Whinnery

THE PEOPLE OF S.H.S.

THE ADMINISTRATION

Mr. Whinnery's office is the heart of the entire Sandusky Public School System. It is the administrative department in which all school matters are handled and through which all communications can be made. Working-permits for all students who are employed are made out in his office and kept on file. All this work is dealt with by the clerk of the Board of Education, Hyacinth Rheinegger, and her two capable assistants, Ruth Nemitz and Joan Rittman.

The principal's office is another busy spot in Sandusky High. Anyone who has been absent or wishes to be excused goes there with his excuse. He is taken care of by Geraldine Buoy, secretary, Miss Reiff, dean of girls, or Mr. Glenwright, dean of boys.

Geraldine Buoy also answers questions on college, ushers salesmen in and out of the office, and prepares the absence lists and the daily announcements. To help her do these many jobs, she finds able assistants among the senior girls, who help her deliver the absence lists and daily announcements. There are different girls for each period.

Our two competent deans, Miss Reiff and Mr. Glenwright, besides their teaching have many other duties. They call the homes of the boys and girls who are absent. Then they take care of any discipline problems of the students. They also take care of any personal problems that may arise and hinder the student from doing his best work. "Freshman Day" is an annual event in Sandusky High School. The Friday before school starts each fall, all the new freshmen are taken on a tour of the school building, so that when the actual classroom work begins, they are able to find their way about and carry on their work with the least possible friction. These "Freshman Day" activities are capably handled by the two deans.

"Where would you like to work? Have you had any typing?" These are the typical questions which Miss Pittman asks any girls looking for jobs. Sandusky High School has one of the best job placement departments in Ohio. This department tries to find jobs for all the senior girls interested in securing employment. It tries to find a position that the senior can capably fill and really enjoy. Miss Pittman and her department have a difficult task, but they do not have many complaints from their customers.

Mr. Blough

Principal Wayne C. Blough has been associated with Sandusky High School since 1930. He was graduated from Wooster College in 1928, where he was a letterman in several sports. He came to Sandusky from Ashland, where he taught in the high school for two years, and where he coached football, basketball, and baseball.

Coming here originally as a basketball coach, Mr. Blough speedily established his reputation for success by training a comparatively green team, and bringing it, at the close of the season, to second place in league standing. In the classroom, as a teacher of science, he showed his genuine interest in the individual pupil.

In 1932, Mr. Blough was appointed Dean of Boys, to which position he brought understanding and sympathy, and won the confidence of the boys who came to him with problem or petition.

Seven years of generous service to the boys and girls of Sandusky High School resulted in the appointment of Mr. Blough, in 1939, to the office of principal.

During the war, Mr. Blough gave of his time and service in many of the war time organizations. He was a member of the Price Control Panel, Office of Price Administration, and the Staff of Civilian Defense Corps. He was chairman of the Community War Fund, and he was responsible for the program of the issuing of the rationing books throughout the city, which was a tremendous undertaking, but one in which Mr. Blough again did an excellent job.

Mr. Blough belongs to the Rotary Club, and in 1943, he served as its president.

The student body respects Mr. Blough, and we shall remember our association with him as principal and friend.

HISTORY

On September 8, 1943, a group of rather timid and excited students entered Sandusky High School as freshmen. They became a part of that great organization of students, all working to better themselves and the world about them. That same group, minus a few who fell by the wayside, is the Senior Class of 1947. Now we have completed four wonderful years of work and fun that we want never to forget.

During the first week of high school, a freshman lives in a little world of his own, and that's just what we did. We heard new names and saw new faces. We walked down unfamiliar halls and carried very strange books about Latin, Algebra, and Science.

But after the first week, the newness began to wear off and we tried to decide whether we wanted to join either of the only two school clubs that were open to us. On Friday nights, we all hiked out to Strobel Field to see the "Eastside" beat the "Westside", or the "Upperclassmen" beat the "Lowerclassmen". Then came our first high school dances, and we wondered if life could ever be better than it was now. We even went to the school polls and cast a vote on election day. Suddenly Thanksgiving was upon us, and we went home with vivid recollections of the Dramatic Club's Thanksgiving Mystery Play, "Wings over Washington."

On December 7, we proved that we did "Remember Pearl Harbor" by purchasing over $2000 worth of war bonds. There were more dances and an occasional glance at a textbook. Then everybody began humming "Silent Night" and making out lists for Santa. The school gave us the movie, "Holiday Inn," for a Christmas present. Even the A Cappella Choir created a musical Christmas for us.

We started the new year full of resolutions and Christmas candy. Intramural basketball was in full-swing, as well as the mid-year tests. We heard the Forum Club discuss post-war problems. The Student Council's Talent Program made everyone swell with pride when we discovered the truly "great" people we had in our midst.

SPORTS AT S.H.S.

VARSITY

Pigskin season! Hup-one, two, three; Hup-one, two, three. The forms of the football aspirants can be seen practicing almost every day from August through November. No shouts of acclaim or large crowds are on hand to greet the practicing boys. Their only welcome is Strobel Field and its gridiron—often a wide expanse of muddy turf. Blocking, bull-pen, and scrimmages are routines that rapidly become familiar to the pigskin toters.

Then when September rolls around and baseball is fast becoming a memory, the sports' spotlight shifts to football. Several new cheers were introduced this year and the cheerleaders, students, and populace were behind the team one hundred per cent. The local eleven encountered one of the toughest nine-game schedules in S.H.S. football history. Even though lack of experience and a tough schedule provided a barrier not easily to be passed, the team did not betray their supporters.

Bolstered by continuous capacity crowds of faithful fans, the fellows finally were rewarded for their many hours of work and practice by a decisive victory at Marion, the last game of the season. Sandusky again had demonstrated its ability to rise from the role of loser to victor through the merits of its team spirit and coaches.

The prospects of a better season in forty-seven are evident, since ten lettermen are slated to return. If the boys continue to improve next season as they did last fall, there is no doubt that success will be achieved.

Although the team was hampered by the return of only a few lettermen to form the nucleus of the squad, numerous newcomers made a good showing. Boys such as Ernie Nimmons, Tom La Rose, Jim Blough, Tony Pappas, John Beis, Bill Henry, Harry Morrow, Angelo Mularoni, Ronald Lauber and Bill Smith

The four men who deserve credit for the steady improvement of the Blue Streaks this year are coaches John Weis, whose position was taken over by Victor Malinovsky on October 21, following the Lorain game; Howard Ziemke; and trainer Paul Garret. To these men and the boys we wish all the success possible next season.

Approximately one hundred and ten hopefuls turned out for the reserve and freshman football squads this year, and forty-five uniforms were given out. Hard work was a required training theme, and many hours of tedious practice were necessary to prepare the boys for their first fray. Mansfield and Fremont rolled up consecutive defeats over the locals, while the Elyria reserves were twice victorious. However, the team finally found their stride, and followed in the steps of the varsity by turning the tables and defeating Port Clinton 19 to 0 in their last game.

The Freshman season ended as follows:

S. H. S.— 0—30 Elyria
S. H. S.— 0— 7 Fremont
S. H. S.—13— 0 Norwalk
S. H. S.— 7—14 Elyria
S. H. S.— 7— 6 Fremont

The reserve team was coached by Vic Malinovsky until Jerry Katherman took over both reserve teams.

BASKETBALL

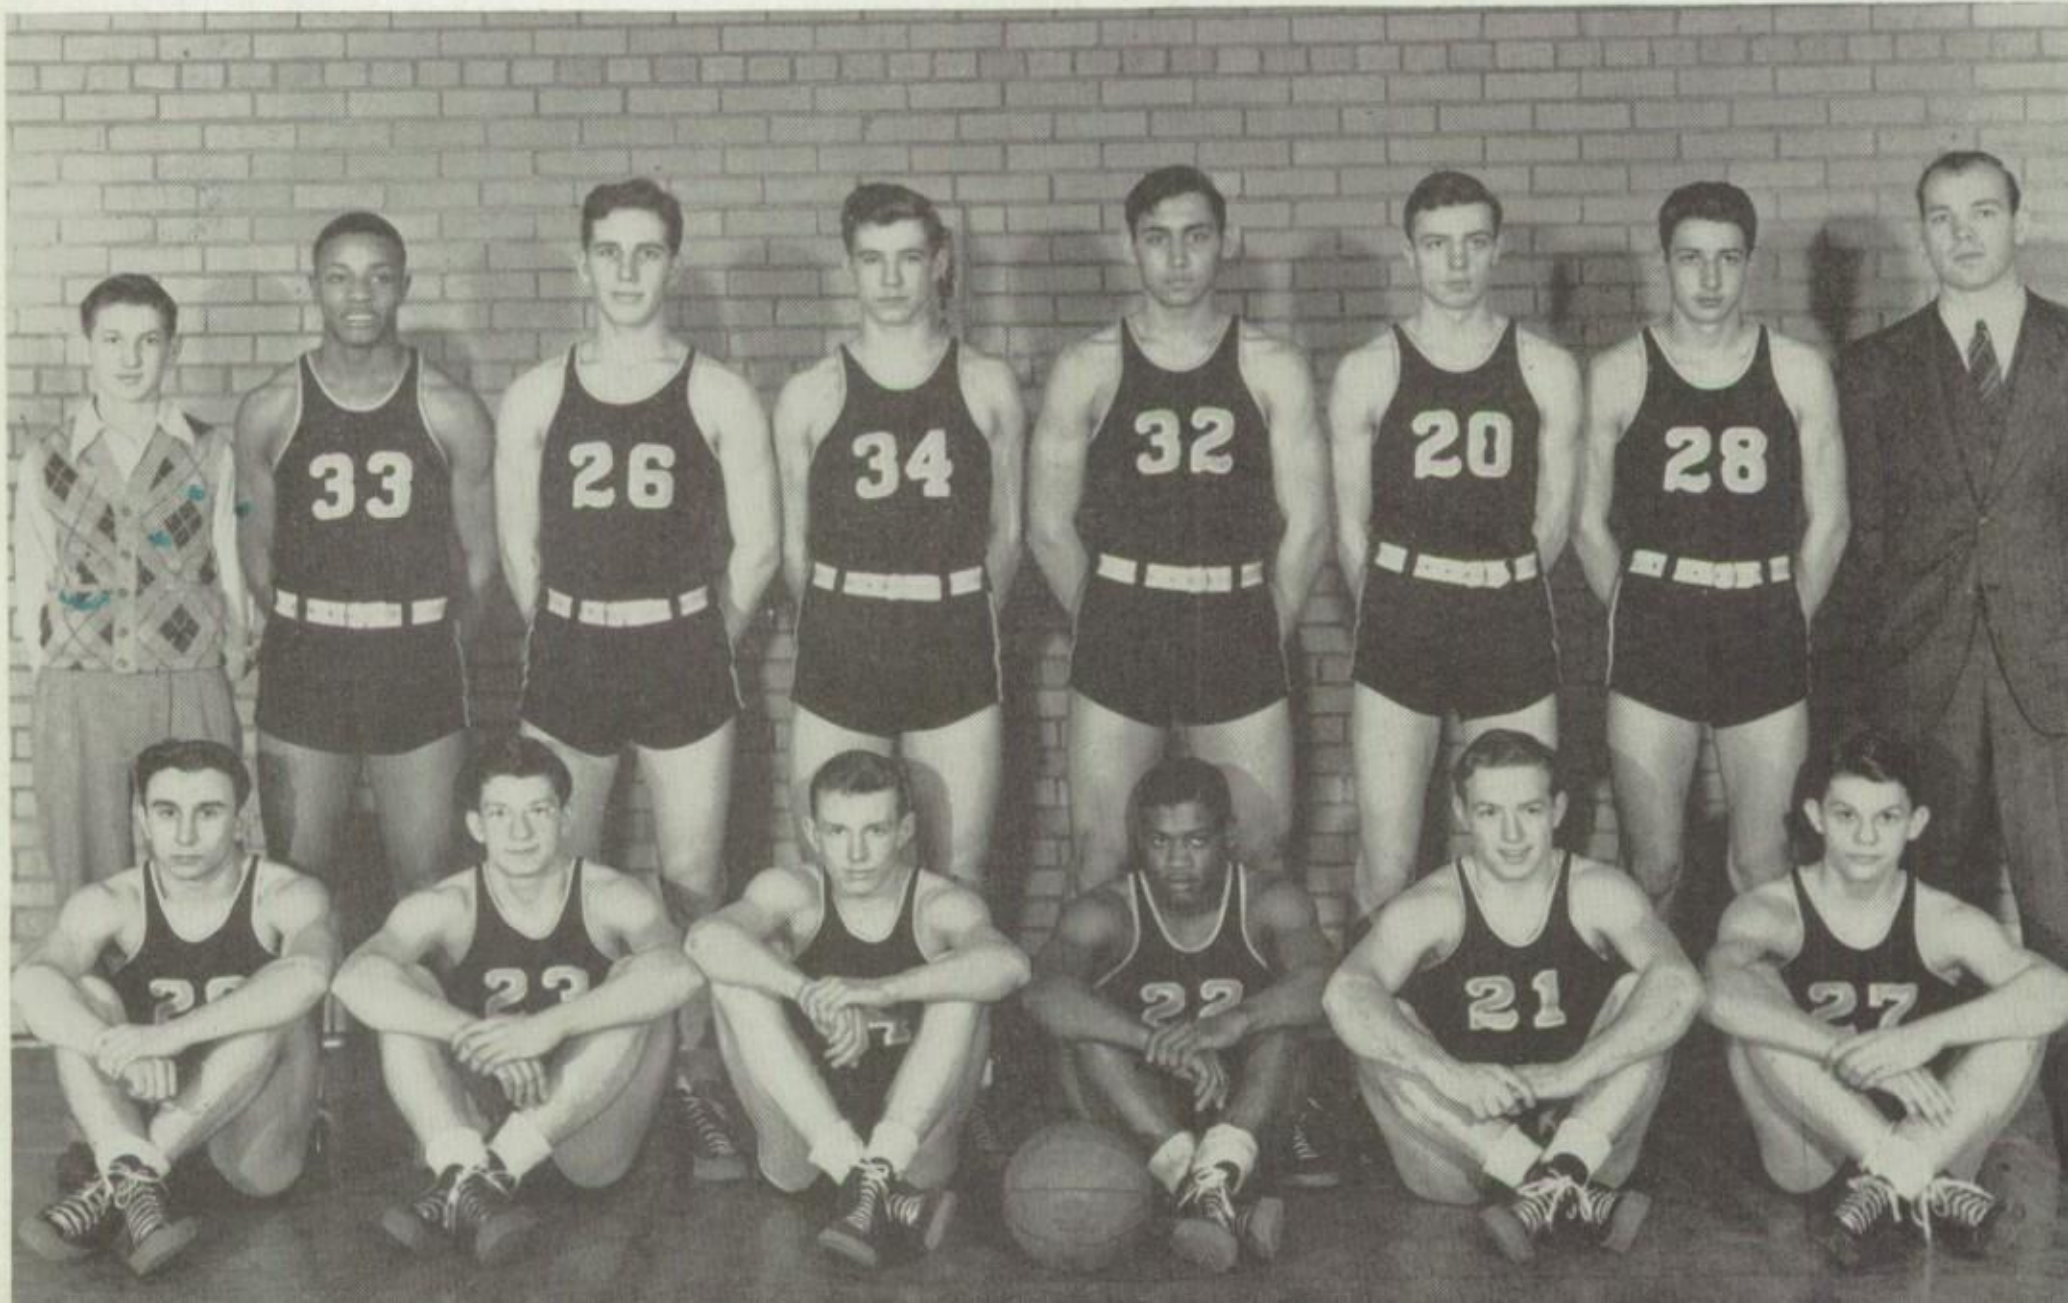

VARSITY

With the loss of four senior lettermen through graduation last year, prospects for this year's quintet were just a question mark. Defending the district championship, which was won by the locals last season, and facing a schedule of fourteen power-packed aggregations, the S.H.S. hoopsters settled down to daily and tedious practice sessions. Eight games were held on the Sandusky hardwood and six away. The boys who developed the varsity combine into a formidable threat to any opposing five are Bruce Alexander, Jack Carney, Bob Sprau, Tom Chapman, Angelo Mularoni, Ernie Nimmons, Jack Blough, and Don Barth. These boys were given awards. An award was also presented to Bruce Alexander for his accurate foul shooting which netted him an average of seven out of ten trys. A manager's award was given to Roderick Meinzer.

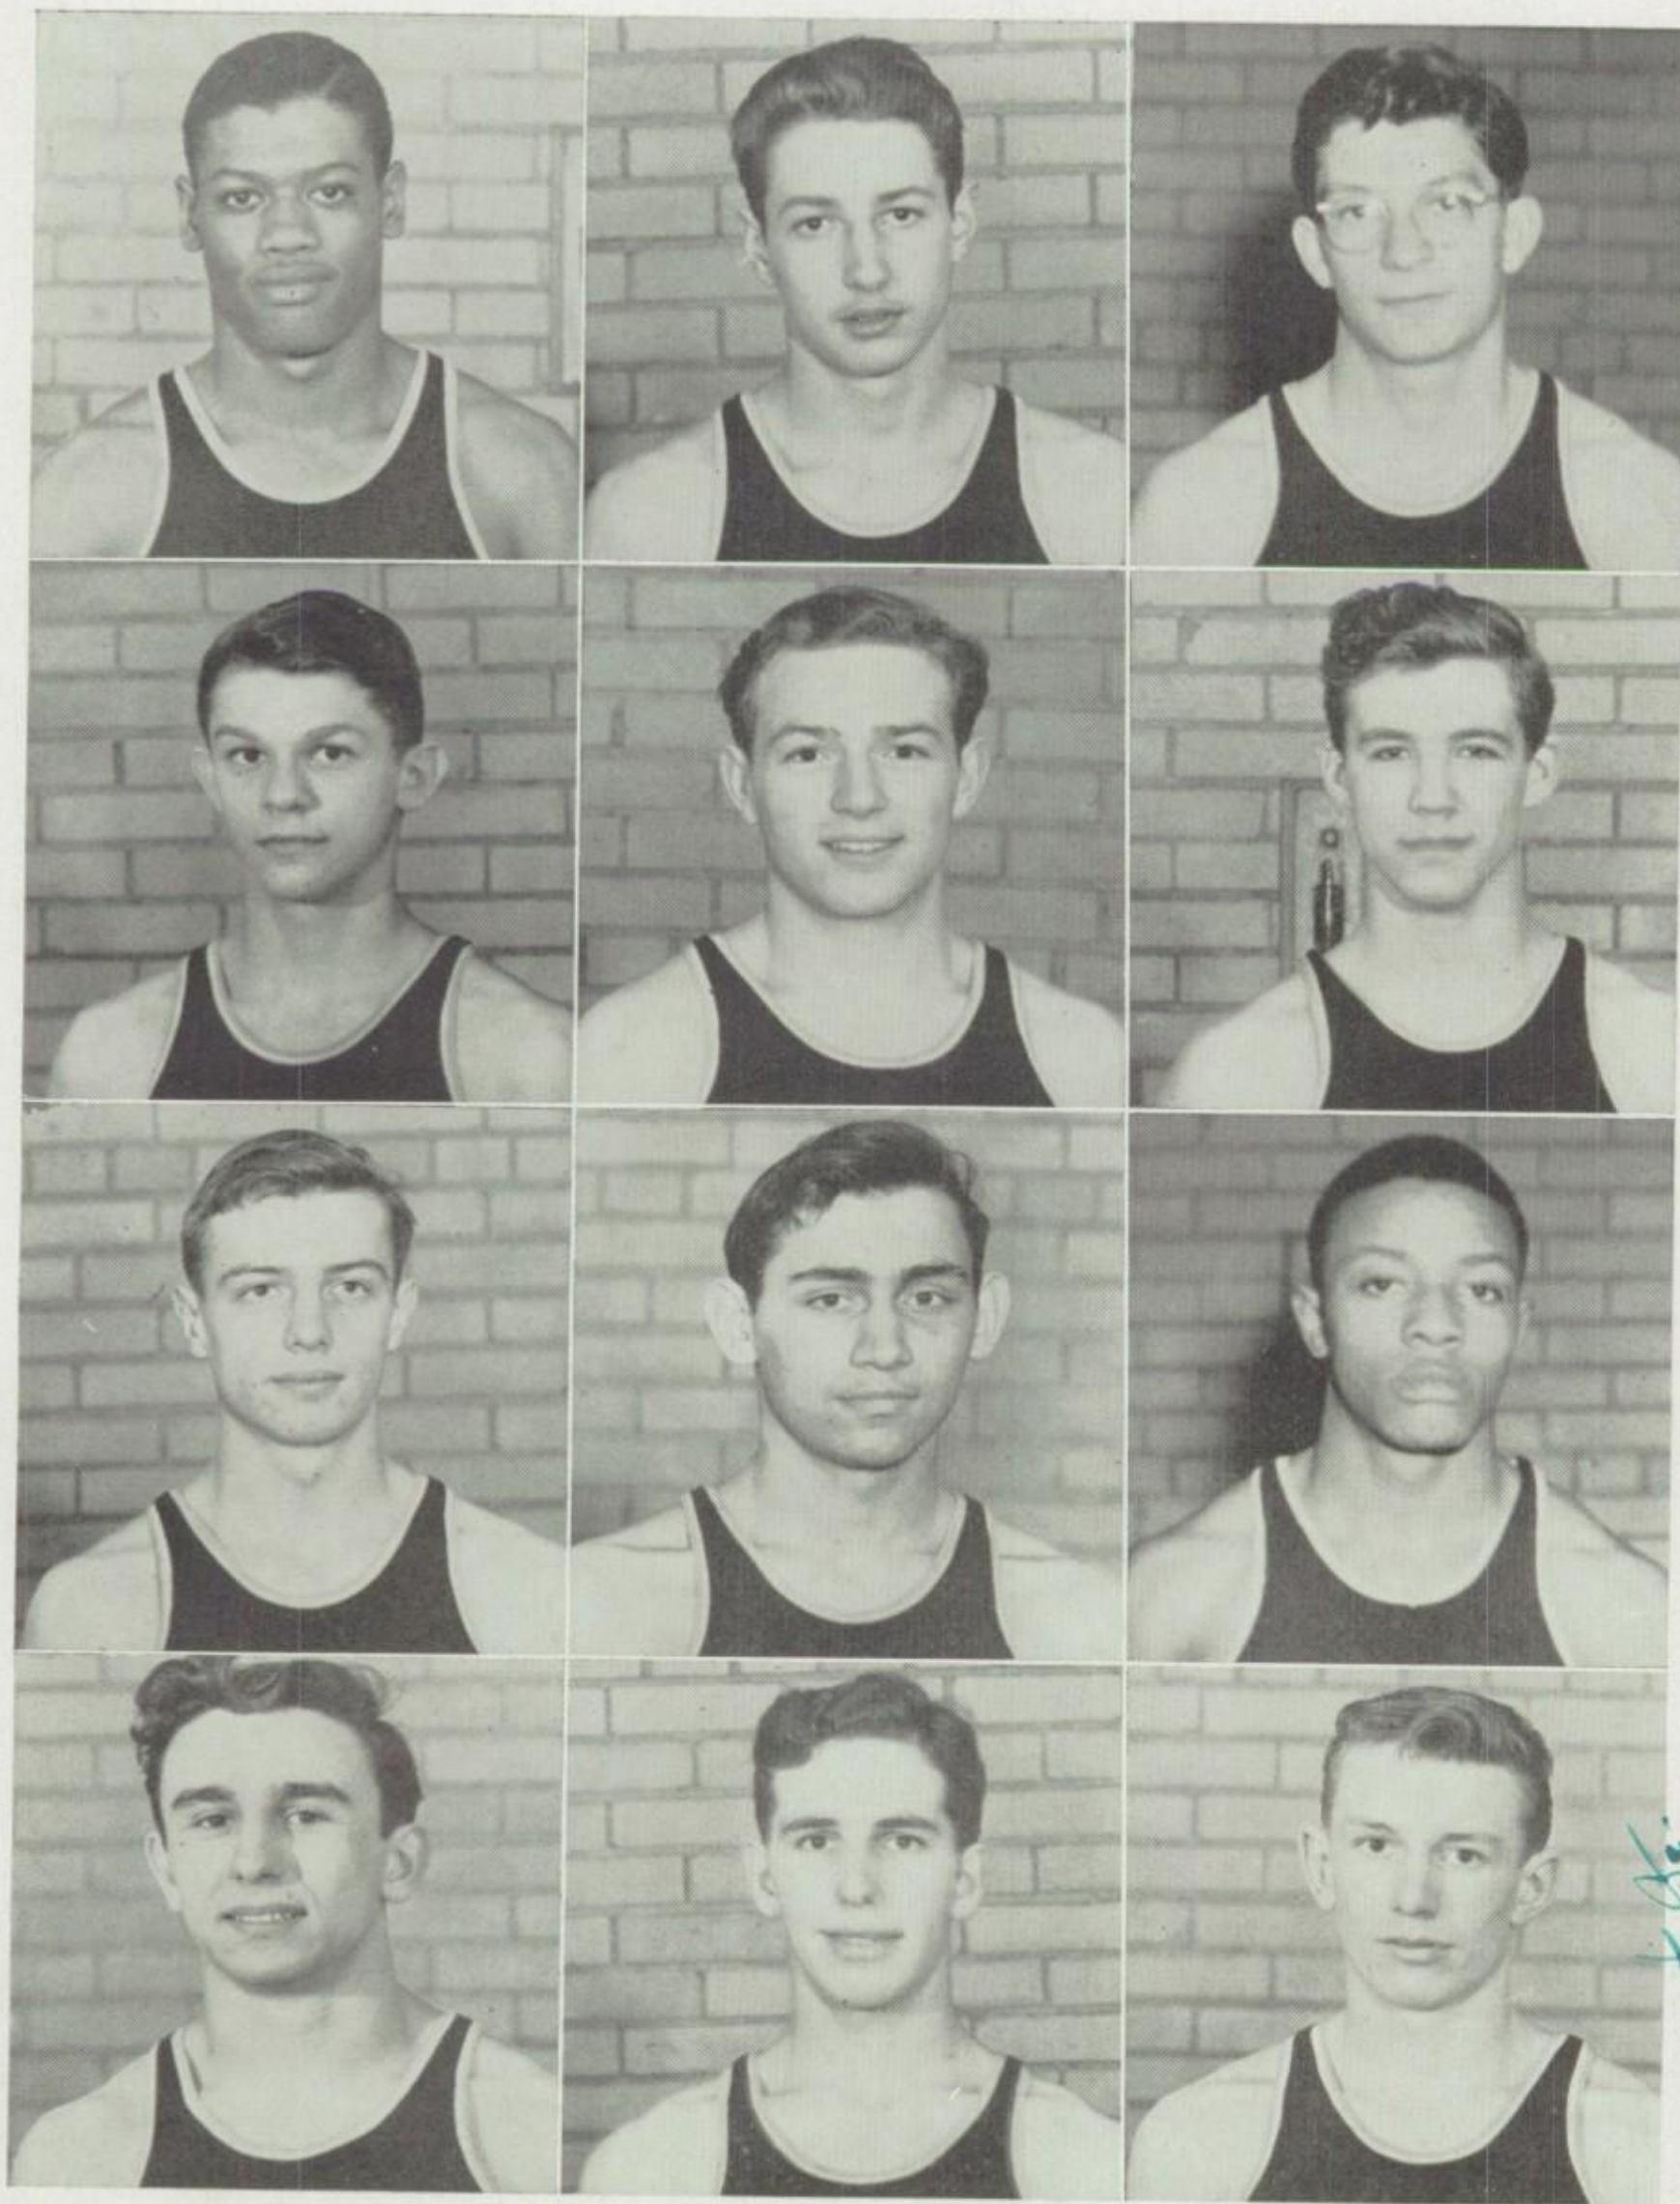

A first-game victory over Fostoria initiated the season as the locals signified that they were not to be disregarded. However, a loss to Norwalk and a narrow defeat by Elyria discouraged premature speculation. Nevertheless, the role of victor was soon regained by the locals as the Port Clinton quintet was conquered by a large margin. A mid-season slump was encountered by the Streaks as consecutive defeats were registered by Toledo Woodward, Lorain, Collinwood, Ashland, Bowling Green, and Findlay. However, in four of these games the Sanduskians were overcome by only nine points or fewer. Then, with team spirit flaring high, the locals brought about one of their unpredictable triumphs. Rated as underdogs, the team outclassed a highly-vaunted Mansfield aggregation on the Sandusky striped wood. Finding their stride and reaching their season's peak, the Sandusky five enacted an even greater upset when they met a highly-rated Bellevue team and stunned them with their margin of victory, twenty-seven points. Displaying no intentions of slipping from their perch, the Streaks added a decisive win over Tiffin Columbian to their victory list. This game was the last regularly-scheduled fray and the season record stood at a total of five wins and nine losses.

The post-season play-off found the Sanduskians classed as an underdog but potential upset team in tournament circles. Hampered by opening game "jitters", the Streaks surpassed on oft-victorious Mansfield Madison quintet by a close 37-34 score. The once-fought Mansfield five, who had eliminated Tiffin, opposed the Streaks in their second tourney start. Thoughts of revenge had evidently gripped the Tigers, as they met the locals for the second time. Although the Streaks fought hard and kept the count near a tie throughout the game, a five-point margin was enough to decide the battle in the Tigers' favor and end S.H.S. tournament activity.

To their coach, Victor Malinovsky, and the team of '47, who deserve much praise for their efforts, we say a hearty and sincere "Nice work, fellows."

Sandusky High's reserve hoopsters, under the leadership of Coach Jerry Katherman, enjoyed a successful season. Proving that future S.H.S. quintets are not to be lacking in quality material, the boys completed their schedule with an eight-won, six-lost record. Three of the losses were by narrow one and two point margins.

S W I M M I N G

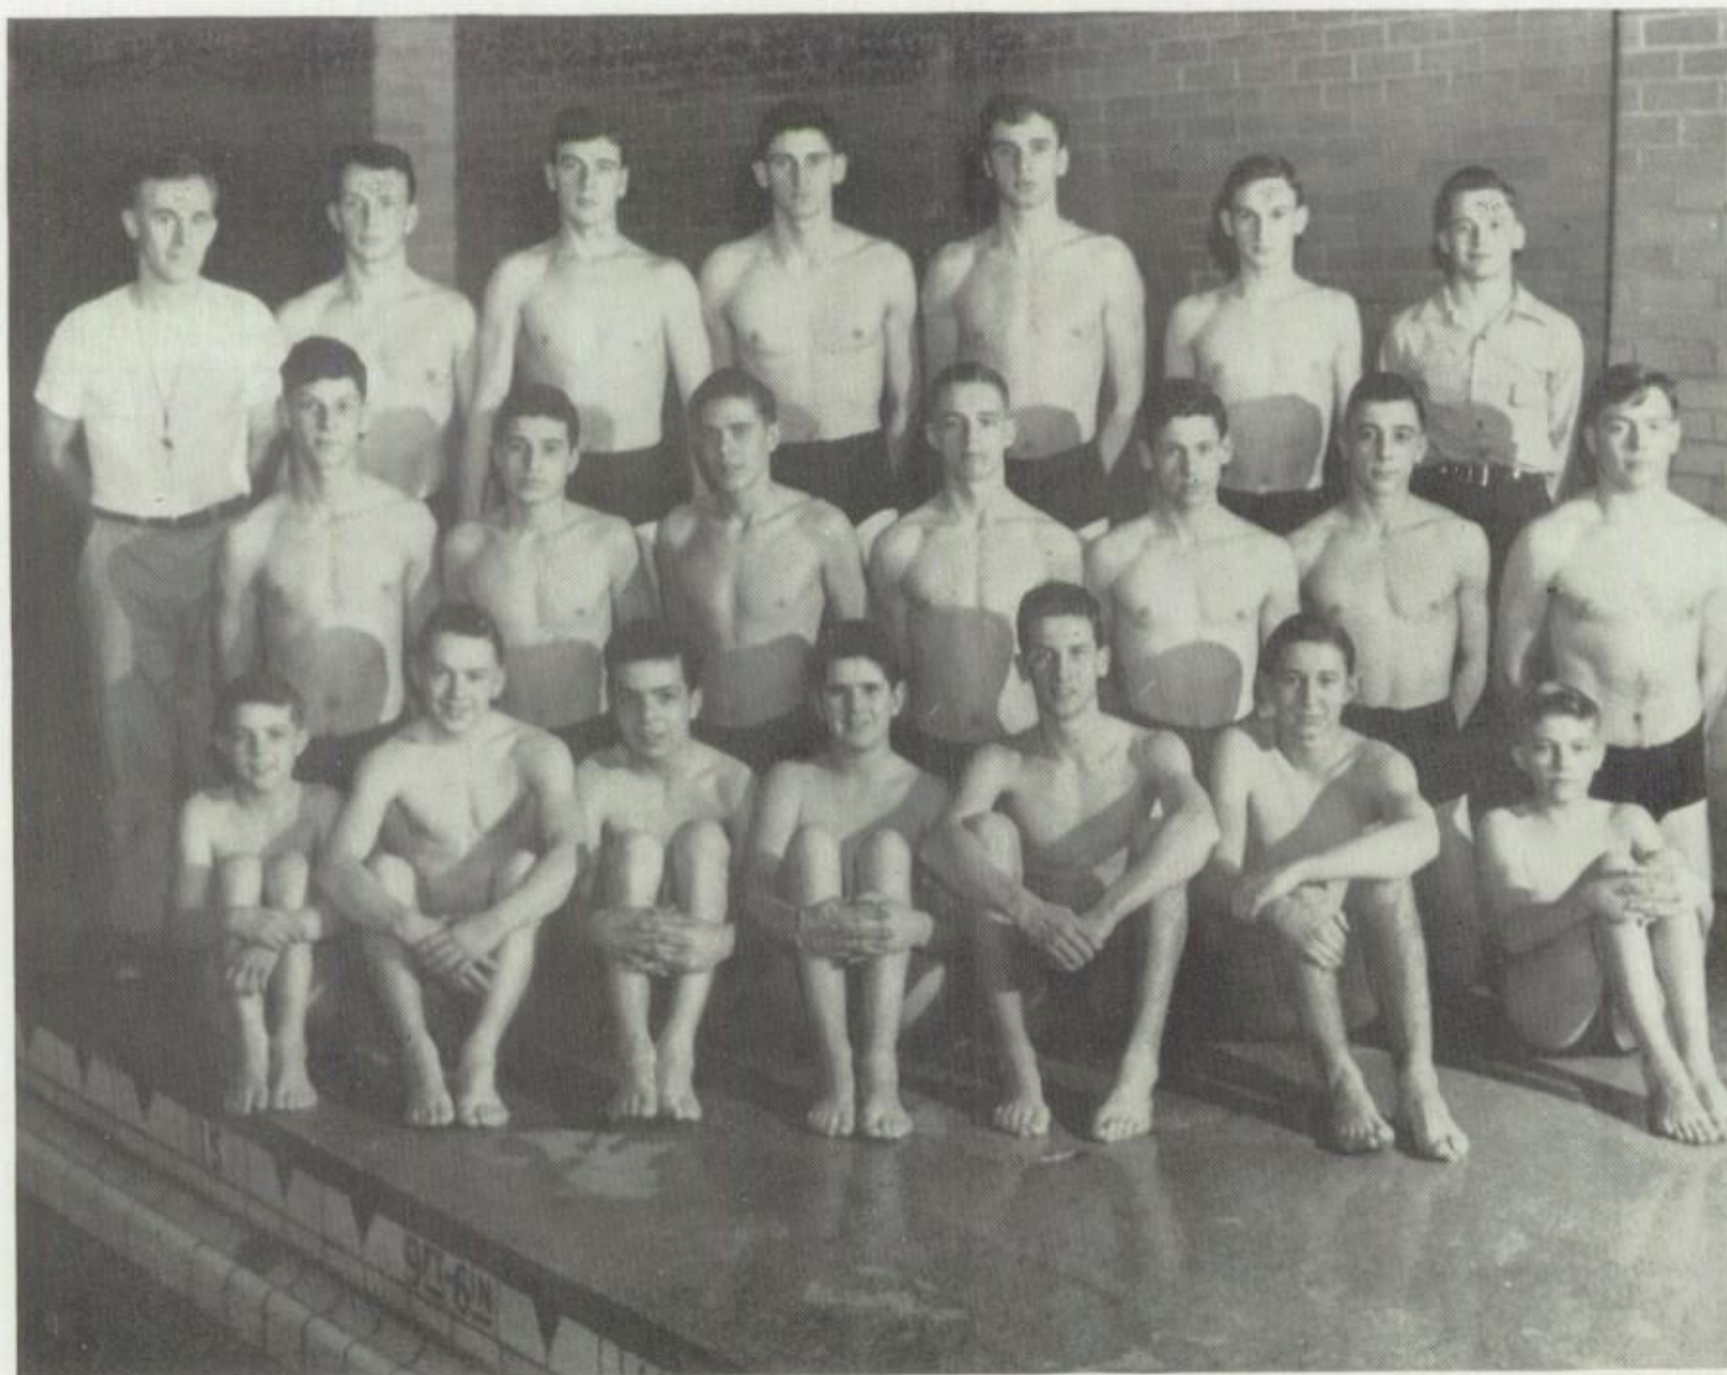

With only two lettermen returning from last year's stellar swimming aggregation, the handicap of inexperience loomed before this season's mermen. Facing them was a schedule of seven dual meets, two relays, plus district and state titles to defend. The state and district title slots were won by the locals in "46", but seven lettermen were lost through graduation and military service.

Acting as hosts, the Streak natators lost to a powerful Lakewood combine in the opening session. Displaying improved spirit, the locals traveled to the pool of our traditional rivals, Fremont, where another loss was annexed to the Streak record. Intent upon victory, Toledo DeVilbiss visited the S.H.S. aqua and a raging Streak aggregation repulsed the visitors for Sandusky's first victory, a decisive twenty-two point win. A return clash with Fremont, this time in S.H.S. waters, resulted in the third defeat of the season.

However, the light of victory was not lacking for long. A fighting Toledo Scott team caused the Streaks to put forth their foremost efforts and a two-point margin finally decided the meet in the local's favor. Then an encounter with vaunted University School of Cleveland proved to be one of the outstanding and most thrilling clashes of the season. The S.H.S. splashers fought the visitors on an even basis until the last event which, won by University School, gave them the meet. The dual schedule was brought to a close by a 36-30 reversal at the once-beaten Toledo DeVilbiss natatorium.

A fourth place was captured at the Bowling Green Relays, amid highly-rated competition. The Streaks finished sixth in the other relay session held at Fenn College, Cleveland. In the highly-contested district fray, a third place was achieved by the locals on the merits of a first place copped by Bill Smith and a second by Don Bohanan.

S W I M M I N G

The big event of the season, the state meet, was held at Columbus. Defending the title, the Streaks tied for eleventh with De-Vilbiss, the only points being won by Bill Smith, who took fourth place in the backstroke event.

Third year gold awards were presented to Bill I. Smith and Jim Caldwell. Smith, backstroke ace, was the outstanding performer of the Streaks this season, being undefeated in the dual sessions and district meet. Coach Walter Caldwell awarded letters to Ray Morrow, Bill Woodruff, Alfred Behrendsen, Bill Voight, Dan Thomas, Don Bohanan, Joe Buder, Ronald Lauber and Dick Pusateri. A Manager's award was given to Jim Mears.

The prospects of a successful season in "48" are almost assured with eight lettermen slated to form the nucleus of the squad. Praise is due Walter Caldwell for his fine coaching and the splashers of "47" for their consistent, all-out efforts.

TRACK TEAM

With the coming of spring, the last of interscholastic sports, track, is initiated. Strobel Field soon takes on the appearance of the Olympic Games in miniature. With knots of interested spectators and aspirants around the high and low hurdle, pole vault, high jump, broad jump, shot-puts and discus, the expanse becomes the daily training grounds of the thinclad hopefuls from April to May. The boys are introduced to the merits of vigorous calisthenics and numerous laps around the track in addition to their individual events. Frequent rain, cold weather, and tedious practice cause many of the would-be cinder-men to withdraw from the sport voluntarily. But Coach Ziemke's capable training helps make up for this deficit, substituting quality for quantity.

Tagged for five dual meets and two relay sessions in addition to the district and state meets, Coach Ziemke's thinclads have no time for idling. The dual meets, Lorain, Fremont, and Mansfield at the local track, and Elyria and Port Clinton away, provide the S.H.S. trackmen with a high grade of competition. When the district and state sessions arrive, the fellows find that their many hours of practice are definitely necessary.

Lettermen returned to this year's squad are Ernie Nimmons, Bob Sprau, William L. Smith, Jack Carney, Dick Lindsley, Don Ross, Charles Page, and handling managers duties are Dick Remy and John Emery. Five senior tracksters were lost through graduation in '46, but the prospects of capable newcomers are encouraging this season.

Last year's squad captured two of their dual meets and took two firsts and three seconds in district competition. A tie for second was recorded at state.

So, to the tracksters coaches and managers for their hard work, and fine showing, we give a vote of appreciation from all.

GOLF TEAM

At about the same time that track begins in the spring, the small group of boys comprising the golf squad go out and start warming up for the scheduled matches ahead of them. It takes a good deal of hard practice before anyone gets his swing back "in the groove" after a long period of four or five months without practice. But as the rough edges begin to smooth out, the sponsor, Mr. Glenwright, starts to look over the squad for a potential varsity lineup.

This team to represent the school is usually made up of five boys—the five consistently low scoring players. The team of "47" includes "Chick" Hendrickson, Leo Biagetti, Joe Buder, Art Kurtz, and Pete Koelsch. Seventeen dual matches, the District and State tournament, held at Toledo and Columbus respectively, made up the well-rounded schedule of competition confronting the team.

The golf team will play two matches each with Shelby, Mansfield, Norwalk, Elyria, Columbus North, Toledo Libbey, one with Lorain, and one with Upper Arlington.

"Chick" Hendrickson proved the outstanding player of the golf team by taking State medalist honors with a score of 76-78-134, in 1946.

Later, during the summer, Hendrickson won the National Caddie Trophy, which was presented to him by the President of the United States. Along with the trophy, a scholarship to Ohio State University was awarded Chick. At present, too, he holds various Plum Brook records.

Another outstanding golfer on this year's team is Leo Biagetti. Although he was not on the varsity golf team in '46 because of school agreements, he made an excellent record. He holds the National Junior record for 72 holes, plus the 9 and 18 hole records of the Mills Creek Course. Leo also won the State Junior Championship in 1946.

With a golf team of such caliber representing S.H.S. this year, we can look forward to a most successful season.

BOYS' INTRAMURAL

Under the direction of Coach John Weis, Sandusky High's intramural program for boys, this year, was extensive and very well organized. The enthusiasm and co-operation of the fellows combined to form one of the largest followings for the intramurals in many years.

Many basketball aspirants were on hand to initiate the first scheduled activity. The "A" league, juniors and seniors, and the "B" league, freshmen and sophomores, kept the scorers busy each Thursday night on the Junior High hardwood. The "Indians", composed of Kermit Price, Frank Valli, Robert Kreimes, Dennis Kurtz, Don Bohanan, Dick Gruhlke, and Lewis Poggiali, took Class A honors, but not without a few very close games. Close on their track were the Muskrats, Virgies, and Noses who came out in the other upper slots of the ten team "A" league. The Rockets achieved first place in the "B" league followed by the Seahawks, Termites, and Forty-Niners, members of a three way tie for second.

During this time the bowling teams were surpassing their quota of strikes. The intramural keglers met every Wednesday afternoon at the local alleys to match blows.

Handball and volleyball also drew a number of followers, ending a very successful season.

GIRLS' INTRAMURAL

This year the sports schedule started out with soccer. Teams were chosen, and after the first few games, sharp competition arose. The team captained by Beverly Schell won first place.

While the soccer enthusiasts were battling it out, the freshmen girls were learning, in their Physical Education classes, the knack of wielding a hockey stick. After they learned what those shin-guards were for, hockey teams were chosen, and Lois Anders' team took top honors. This concluded the outdoor sports until spring.

With cold weather on the way, the girls moved into the gym for volleyball. The senior girls, captained by Florence Ramsey, easily took the volleyball title. This same team took second place in the volleyball tournament last year.

Basketball, a favorite of most of the girls' athletes, was the next winter sport. The teams were chosen, and after many hot contests, competition narrowed down to the teams captained by Edith Steffenhagen and Beverly Schell, each with a no-loss record. In the final chapter, the Steffenhagen team came out in front with Martha Pheiffer and Anita Cantelli tossing the ball through the hoop. Outstanding basketball players are chosen each year to be on the all-star game before the annual G. A. A. banquet.

Next, we traveled down to the bowling alley every Wednesday after school to roll that "ball at those pins". A large group of girls were out for bowling, as it is always one of the most favored sports. The Spares, captained by Edith Steffenhagen, won the most games, and in the race for the highest single bowling average, Anita Cantelli came out first with Eileen Fisher second.

Badminton singles and doubles were the next attraction on the sports program. Then we had "everyone watching the birdie".

To help fill in the lull before spring sports came, the girls dusted off the ping-pong tables and started in on the singles and doubles ping-pong tournaments.

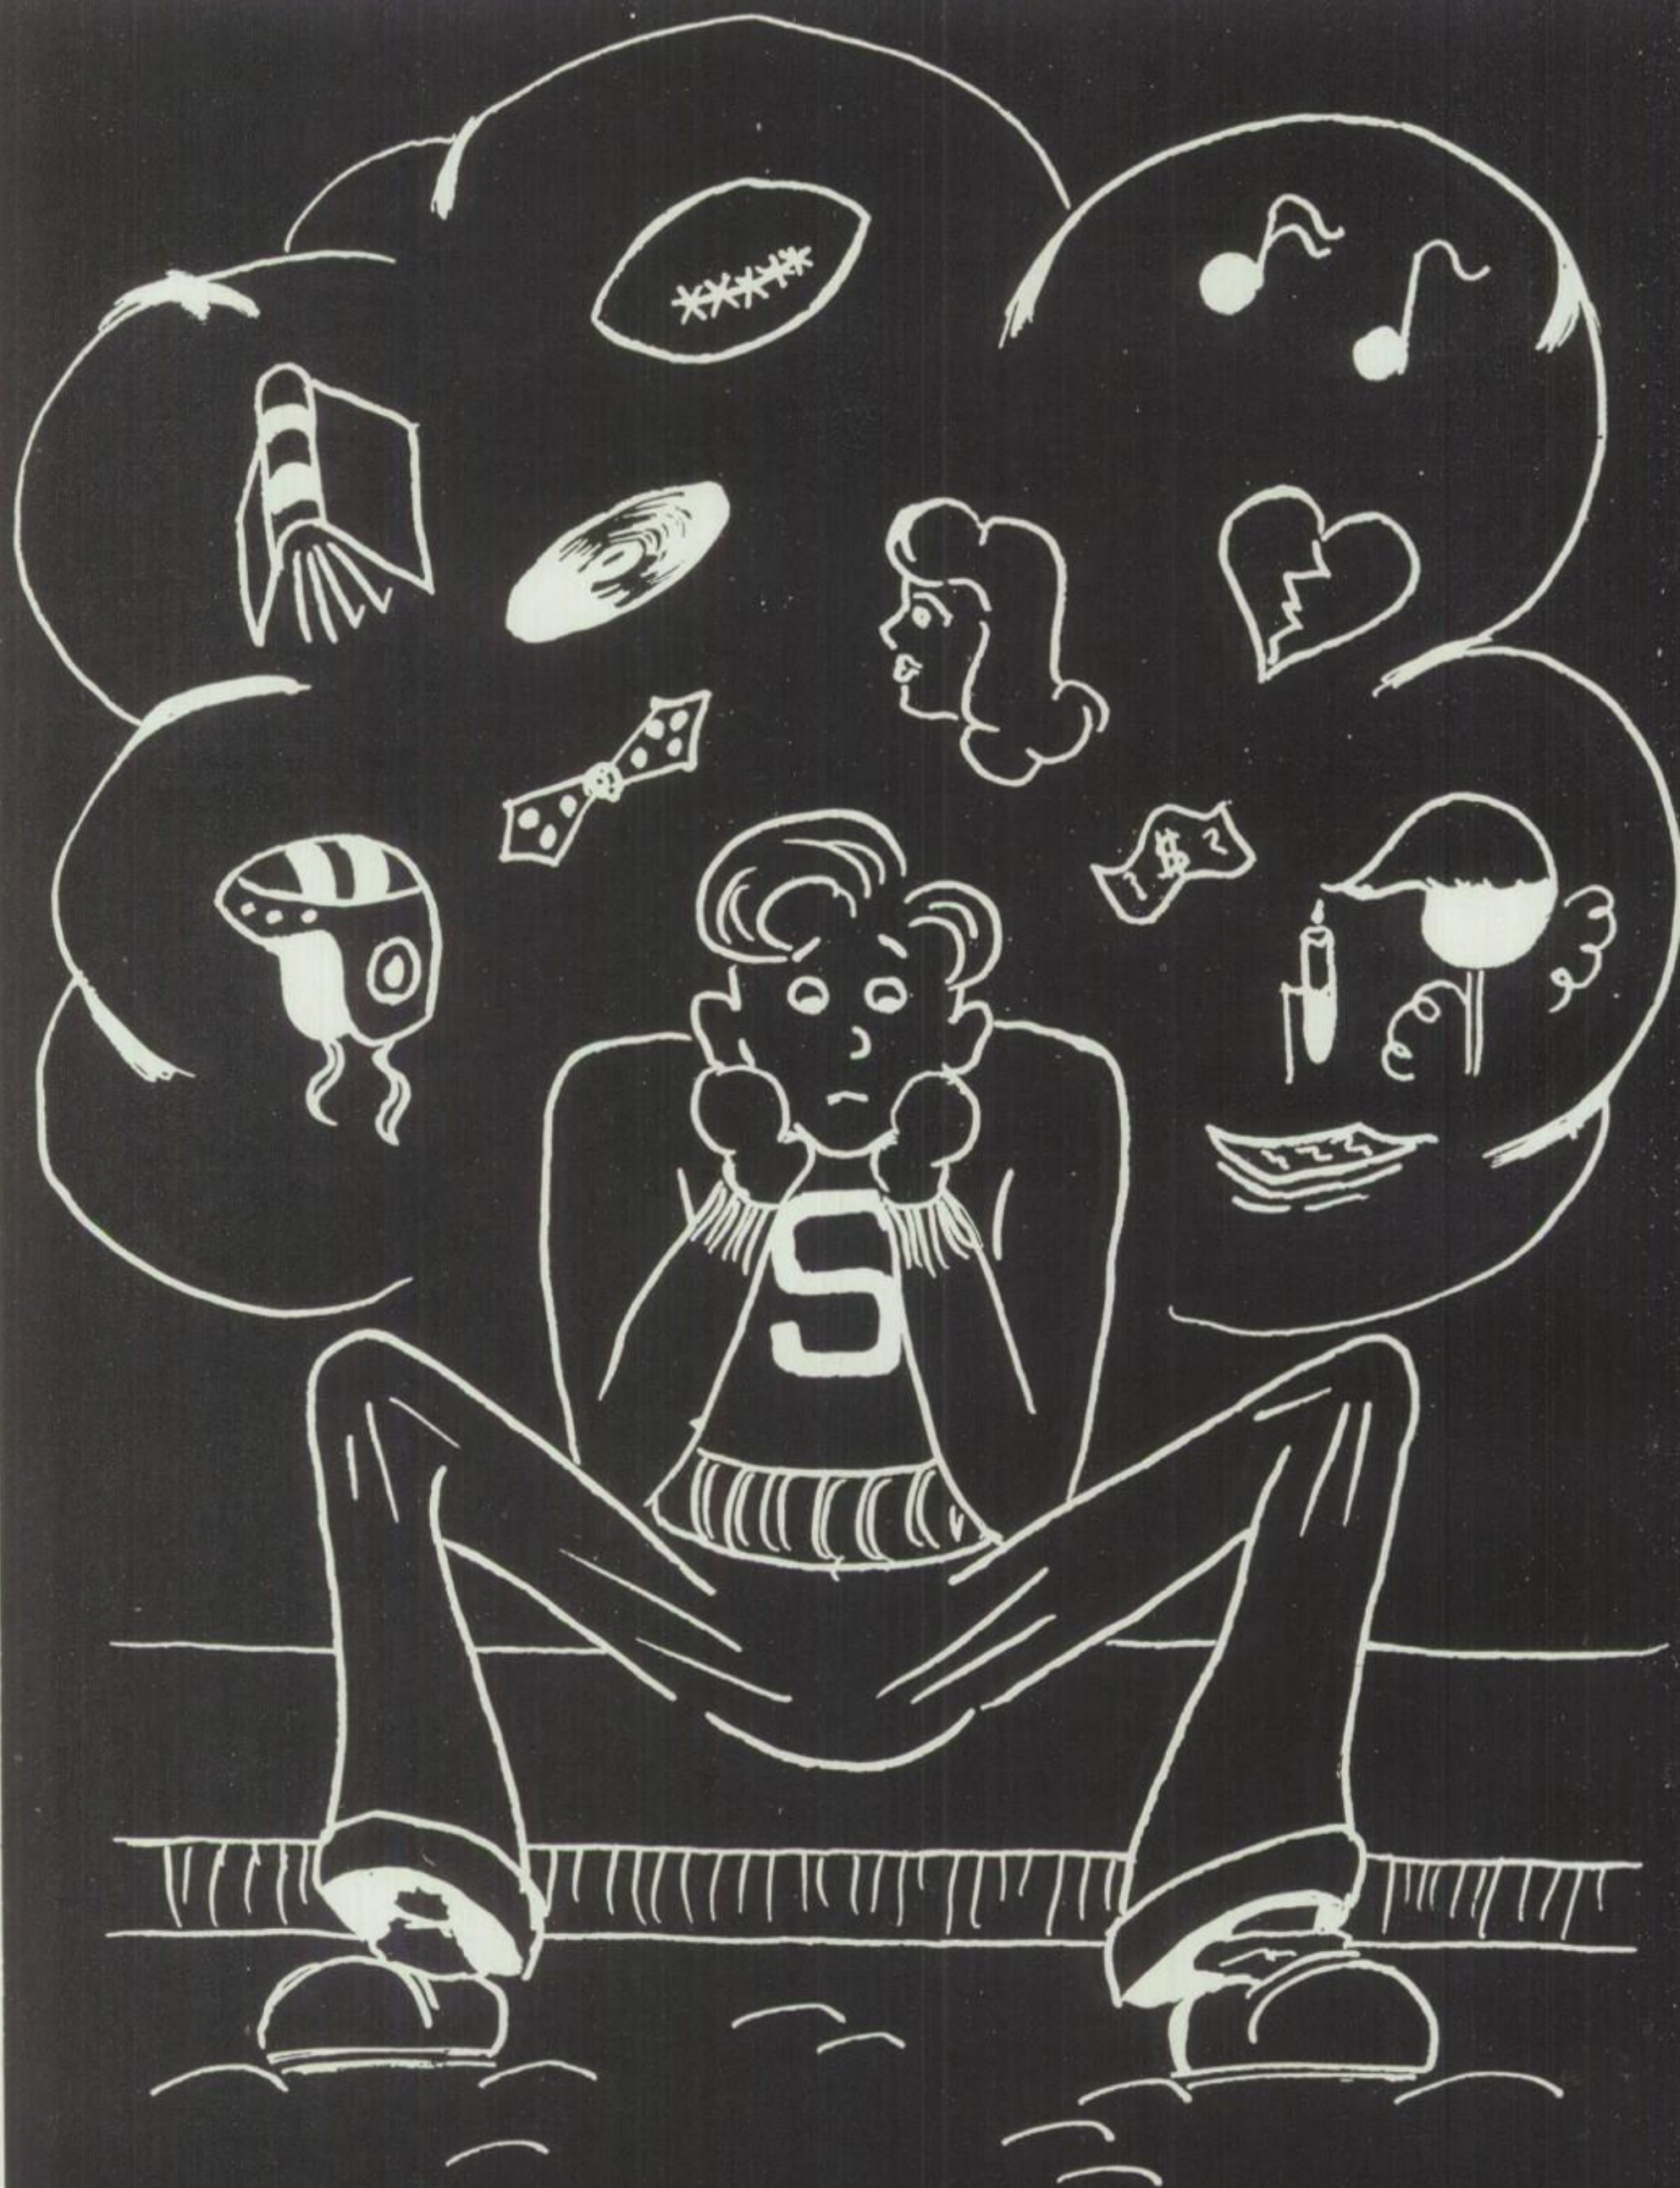

When the first robin was sighted, and the first blade of grass popped out, the sports-minded gals turned their thoughts to softball. Teams were chosen, and the girls batted it out. If you had gone past Huron Park after school some Tuesday or Thursday, you would have witnessed a high-spirited softball game.

Golf, tennis, and archery were not offered on a tournament basis, but the girls were able to gain points by participating in these sports.

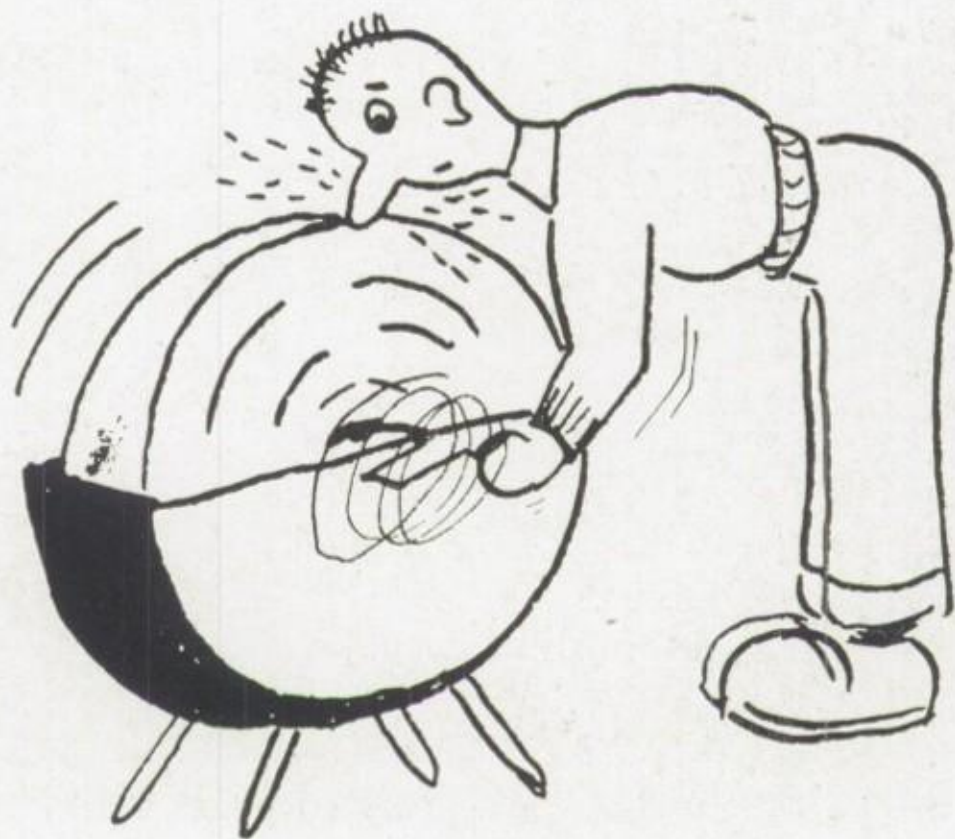

Many girls interested in becoming better and abler swimmers, took advantage of the courses offered in Junior and Senior Life Saving.

On Recognition Day, the outstanding sports-women of the year were cited for their fine sportsmanship, as well as progress and ability in the field of athletics.

ACTIVITIES AT S. H. S.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council of Sandusky High School is an organization composed of representatives of the student body who aid in the administration of many of the school's activities. Each home room and club elects its own representative, the election taking place once each year. This group was first organized in 1920. At that time the Student Council merely prepared the school calendar. Each year its jurisdiction has increased until now the Council has many responsibilities and activities.

The Council meets in Room 323 every other Wednesday afternoon. The first problem facing the new members at the beginning of the fall semester is the arranging of the school calendar. All organizations are asked about the activities they wish to plan for the coming year and the dates are arranged so that there is no conflict between organizations.

Sandusky High School has Honor Study Halls which are the responsibility of the Student Council. The monitors in charge of the halls are selected by the Council. It also makes the rules governing the management of the halls. By having check-ups at frequent intervals the Council makes every effort to insure the success of this project.

All charitable drives sponsored by the high school are handled by the Council. The March of Dimes, Community Fund, and Red Cross are some of the projects that have been aided by the Council. One of the most important and worth-while drives sponsored by the Student Council is the annual Easter Seal Drive for the help of crippled youngsters. The Osborne Health School, supported partly by the money obtained from this drive, provides care for physically handicapped children. Medical care and summer camps are also made possible by the funds raised in the sale of Easter Seals.

B. Spore, J. Blough, J. Buder, G. McNutt

Methods of earning money for purposes of the Council are varied. The greatest source of income is the concession stand at the football games. This year the Council also increased its income by the sale of Blue Streak license tags. These attractive blue and white tags represented our school teams by illustrating several major sports surrounding the name "Sandusky." Followers of the "Blue Streaks" were quick to purchase these tags in order to spread the name of their favorite team throughout this area.

An additional responsibility handled by the Council is the selection of the cheerleaders. They are also in charge of the cheering sections and the cheerleader letters. In the spring try-outs were held in the auditorium before the Council to pick cheerleaders. Selected this year were Virginia Zerbe, Donna Loffer, Ann Gilbert, John Emery and Dan Ahner.

Each year the Council appoints a committee which sends a card of sympathy when there has been a death in the family of a student. The committee also sends a card when a student is suffering from a prolonged illness. The work of this group is much appreciated.

The officers for the Council this year were president, Joe Buder; vice president, Jack Blough; secretary, Gwen McNutt; and treasurer, Barbara Spore. The president of the Student Council introduces speakers in the auditorium, maintains order, presides at meetings, and directs the discussions. Mr. Walker is the sponsor of the Student Council and takes a keen interest in its activities.

At the end of the school year the Council usually has a party to climax the year's endeavors. All of the members get together just for fun and to forget their responsibilities and duties.

DRAMATIC CLUB

This being the Dramatic Club's Silver Anniversary, the year of 1946-47 proved a gala one for the organization. It was just 25 years ago that club was born, under the direction and sponsorship of Miss Bessie Taylor, who has returned to our faculty after several years' absence. It was under her guidance that the group really got its start toward the position in the life of the school it occupies today.

To promote dramatic art and the appreciation of it is the main purpose of the club, but its services to the school, both tangible and intangible, are many. Besides presenting its annual Thanksgiving and Spring plays for the school and the public, the organization gives the school the benefit of its large dramatic library which it has collected over a period of many years, and serves as a testing ground for aspiring actors, directors, and playwrights through the medium of its bi-weekly plays.

Under the able direction of this year's sponsors, Miss Homegardner and Mr. Miller, the Dramatic Club was unusually active.

For the annual Thanksgiving play, the club presented a comedy, "January Thaw". Another comedy, "A Date With Judy", was the club's Spring production. Both were received with wide acclaim.

Miss Homegardner conducted a make-up class for interested members during the fall. The graduates of this course proved very useful in making up the casts of the club productions.

In the past year, the club took in sixty new members who passed the rather strict entrance requirements, swelling the membership of the club to 114.

The club's meetings which were held every other Thursday, always presented an interesting program, which included a review of a current Broadway play, one act plays, radio plays, and several experimental types which were always viewed with the greatest interest and delight. Much credit goes to the club's V. P., Joe Kulda, for his untiring efforts in organizing the programs.

Recognition for faithful or exceptional service to the club is given through the Dramatic Club Certificate, which entitles the receiver to wear the pin of the club.

The president of the club this year was Justin Rogers. He was capably assisted by Joe Kulda, vice president, and Betty Feiszli, secretary. Jean Shepherd took care of the finances in the position of treasurer while Barbara Spore served as librarian. Jack Blough and Mary Margaret Speers defended the interests of the club in the Student Council and Dick Parker was sergeant-at-arms.

COLLEGE CLUB

In the year 1939, one of Sandusky High School's most prominent and respected teachers, Mr. Ruff was appointed sponsor of the newly organized College Guidance Club. Since then many speakers from various colleges and universities have been brought to our school to speak to the club.

The representatives bring with them literature and sometimes moving pictures or colored slides regarding their respective institutions. Generally they present their talks, after which a brief question and answer period is conducted. In these talks the speakers highlight the athletic and social activities as well as the courses offered, required credits, and the expense of attending their particular school. The members of the club not only receive information about the speaker's college but about "going to college" in general. After the meeting is adjourned, anyone interested in the particular college represented that evening may stay to receive personal and more detailed information about it from the speaker.

It is a policy of the College Guidance Club, when a speaker cannot be furnished by some institution, to appoint a member of the club to investigate the school. This member then presents his findings at one of the regular meetings. In this way students are furnished with a thorough knowledge of a school which would have remained vague to them otherwise.

Representing their schools this year at the meetings were: Mr. Walters of Fenn College; Mr. Holderman of Oberlin College; Mr. Petite from Ashland College; Miss Weedler from Lake Erie College; Mr. Bittikofer from Capitol University; and speakers from Findlay, Otterbein, Heidelberg, Wittenberg, Cincinnati, Baldwin-Wallace, and Wooster.

At the end of each year a dance, party, or picnic of some sort is given for the members.

The organization meets the second Monday of each month. It is presided over by the president, Fred Waldock. The complement of the club's executives is Paul Hoelzer, vice president; Martha Pietschman, secretary-treasurer; and Margaret Hoyer, corresponding secretary. College Club is represented in the Student Council by Lewis Poggiali and Ruth Quade. The club is sponsored by Mr. Ruff, Miss Lehman, Mr. Hamblin, and Mr. Laning.

Today with college entrance as difficult as it is the job this club is doing has become almost indispensable. After one or two years of membership the student leaves Sandusky High School with a greater understanding of Ohio's institutions of higher learning.

FORUM CLUB

Seven-fifteen! Every other Tuesday! President Bill Lange's gavel comes down on the desk of Room 323, calling to order a meeting of the Forum Club, now enjoying its twentieth year at S. H. S. Jack Blough, vice-president, takes his place at the right of the president. Eleanor Young, secretary, on the other side begins to call the roll of the members, all of whom are at least sophomores.

Forum, originally called the S. H. S. Debating Society, is one of the oldest and most honored clubs in the school. At one time the club sponsored a debating team, but actual interscholastic debating has been discontinued since the beginning of World War II.

The 1946-47 year started with a burst of enthusiasm aroused by the able sponsors and officers. Before this year, any sophomore, junior, or senior could gain membership by giving a three-minute talk for the organization. This year, it was decided, one of the sponsors should have charge of each meeting. Six or eight new members then put on a program under the guidance of the sponsor.

Mr. Whitney added a novel touch to one of the meetings by arranging a quiz program in which the club and his board of experts took part. For each question a member answered correctly, he or she was given a peanut. Justin Rogers led the club with a score of seven peanuts which entitled him to all the peanuts left in the bag and not earned by the other "experts."

All programs of the club serve two purposes: to give practical experience to those interested in public speaking and to acquaint the student with problems and events of public or high school interest. Both sides of all issues are presented. Discussions range from "dating" to "international problems".

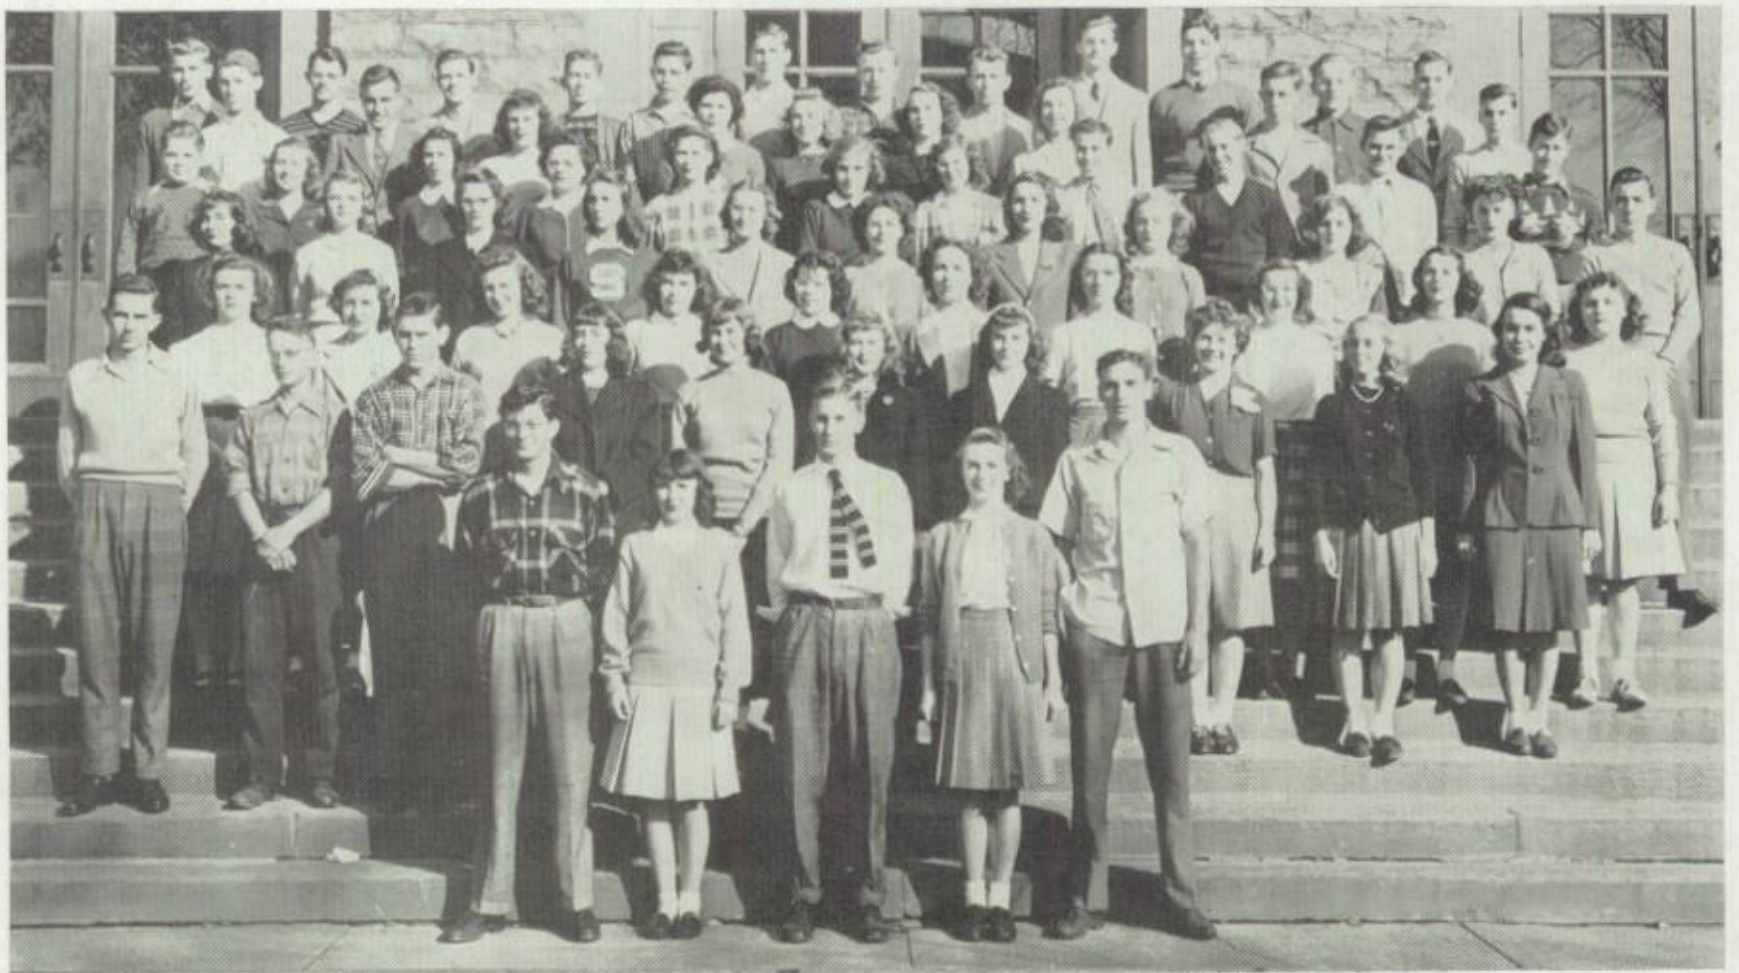

Again this year, the Forum Club presented an auditorium program to the school. Discussed before the student body were "presidential possibilities for 1948". Taking part were Richard Beuthel, John Carnes, Betty Feiszli, Joan Landin, and Bill Little.

Like most other clubs, the Forum Club is represented in the Student Council. William L. Smith and Barbara Spore were chosen for those positions at the end of last year when the elections were held. At that time William Stahl became sergeant-at-arms.

Annual parties at the end of the school year have become a prevailing custom. Often the Dramatic Club joins the Forum Club in these events, as in 1946.

The Forum Club now is deeply rooted in Sandusky High. Again and again it will renew its pledge to the passing classes of S. H. S. for better thinking and better speaking.

H O M E E C . C L U B

If you happen to be passing by the Follet house on the first or third Monday of the month, you will find a scene of busy activity, signifying that the Home Economics Club is once more in session with their capable President, Pat Dwelle. The meeting is opened by the reading of the minutes by Secretary Pat Runkle, while their treasurer, Genevieve Damante keeps a careful check on the funds of the club.

The primary object of the club is to try to broaden the girls' outlook by presenting in club programs a wide variety of subjects. Guest speakers often follow the business meeting, who tell the girls about various ways to decorate a home, discuss the latest styles, and give pointers on skin care. Also local beauty experts advise the girls on hair dressing.

One of the most fondly remembered events of the club this year was the occasion when they played host to the Home Economics Rally of Erie County. Members from all the clubs in the county attended. The program was held in the high school auditorium, with a tea at the Follet house afterwards. This gave the girls a chance to learn what some of the other clubs were doing in the way of projects and programs.

Membership in the club is open to anyone who is interested in home making and family care. Every girl has a chance to earn points toward local and even state-wide honors by her interest in the field of home economics, her scholastic average, and carrying out projects on her own initiative.

Everyone looks forward to the annual dance sponsored by the club, at which time baked goods, made by the girls, are auctioned off. The funds made by these dances help equip the sick-room. They also help buy the equipment for the kitchen.

Even though the members of the Home Economics Club work hard, they still manage to have a merry time. They never forget the fun they have singing around the piano after the work for the evening is done, nor the traditional Christmas party with caroling, hanging the greens, and trimming the Christmas tree. The end of the year brings the much anticipated dinner and theater party, the climax of the year.

G. A. A.

Opening the 1946-47 season of the Girls' Athletic Association was the Pigskin Parade on November 15. Highlighting this annual dance dedicated to the football team were simulated footballs and players auctioned during the intermission.

The club met the first Monday of every month under the leadership of President Edith Steffenhagen, Vice-president, Beverly Schell, and Secretary-treasurer, Florence Ramsey. Miss Mason, a new addition to the faculty this year, was the capable sponsor of the G. A. A.

The initiation was combined with a Halloween party. The booby traps placed throughout the locker room proved to be a great cause of anxiety on the part of the unsuspecting freshmen.

Our sports season was begun with soccer and hockey games played at Huron Park. With winter coming on, the girls remained indoors, participating in volleyball, basketball, and bowling. Spring sports included softball, tennis, ping-pong, badminton and life-saving. During the summer the girls of the G. A. A. went sailing, rowing, and biking, took hikes, shot archery and rode horseback in an attempt to finish making their 175 points which entitle them to a large blue and white letter.

Besides helping the athletic minded girls exhaust their energy, the club managed the concession stand at the football games and also assumed the responsibility of opening the concession stand for those people who attended the Dog Show in September.

Of course the G. A. A. has its social side too, which can best be exemplified by the Sports Day. It proved to be a very successful day. The Sandusky G. A. A. played host to Mansfield, Galion, Avon, Elyria, Norwalk, Bellevue, Port Clinton, Bucyrus, and Shelby at the Volleyball Elimination Tournament at the Junior High School.

K I W I F L Y E R S

Many students who are interested in aviation desire to keep themselves informed about what is going on in the world of aeronautics and the results of experiments in that field. And for the benefit of these students another club has been added to the extra-curricular activities, namely, the Kiwi Fliers Club.

The club is under the sponsorship of Mr. E. Clark, machine shop administrator of the Industrial Arts Building. As this is the club's first year, most of the time has been given to the necessary organization. Despite this handicap, many of the members are already building model airplanes to become familiar with the theory of flight. So far membership in the club has been open to all students, girls included, in Sandusky High School.

The intention of the Kiwi Fliers Club is to have speakers who will tell the members of important developments in aviation and give practical information and help concerning model contests. The first speaker was Mr. Misner from the craft shop. Mr. Misner spoke on airplane construction, and the use of airplane engines. He also explained the organization known as the Academy of Model Aeronautics. The A. M. A. is located in Washington, D. C., and sponsors most of the model airplane contests. Mr. Misner passed out pamphlets and cards with instructions for joining his organization.

In the early part of the school year, the Kiwi Fliers Club went to Cleveland to attend the National Air Show. Many of the students picked up an impressive amount of useful information on kinds of planes, for it seemed every type was represented in the show. The show gave students a good idea of the principles of jet propulsion, as there were a few jet planes on display as well as a miniature jet tube which was used during the demonstration. All the members thoroughly enjoyed the trip.

The future of the Kiwi Fliers Club depends entirely upon the students. If this club is to flourish and keep going, there must be an enlarged enrollment. At the present there are eleven active members. These members are the ones who attend the meetings regularly, and are seriously interested in aviation.

It is the devoted interest of such today, that will make aviation successful tomorrow. The officers for the year are Edward Collings, president; Jerry Keimer, vice president; Clare Kosbab, secretary-treasurer; and Gary Moxley, assistant secretary-treasurer.

MATH CLUB

On the first Monday evening of every month the members of the Math Club gather together in Room 222 at 7:15 to see what President Jack Carney and the committee have planned for the meeting.

The Math Club was organized in 1936 by Mr. Ruff as a supplement to the higher math courses. It offers proof that the mathematical mind can relax, forget simultaneous equations, parallelograms, sines and cosines, and enjoy the society and fellowship of like minds. The club has been a success since its beginning. One practical purpose of this club is to teach its members the uses math may be put to in modern business. Prominent business men are brought before the club to explain those phases of applied math not touched upon in the textbooks. Speakers from outside are not always had for the meetings. Some of the programs feature members of the club.

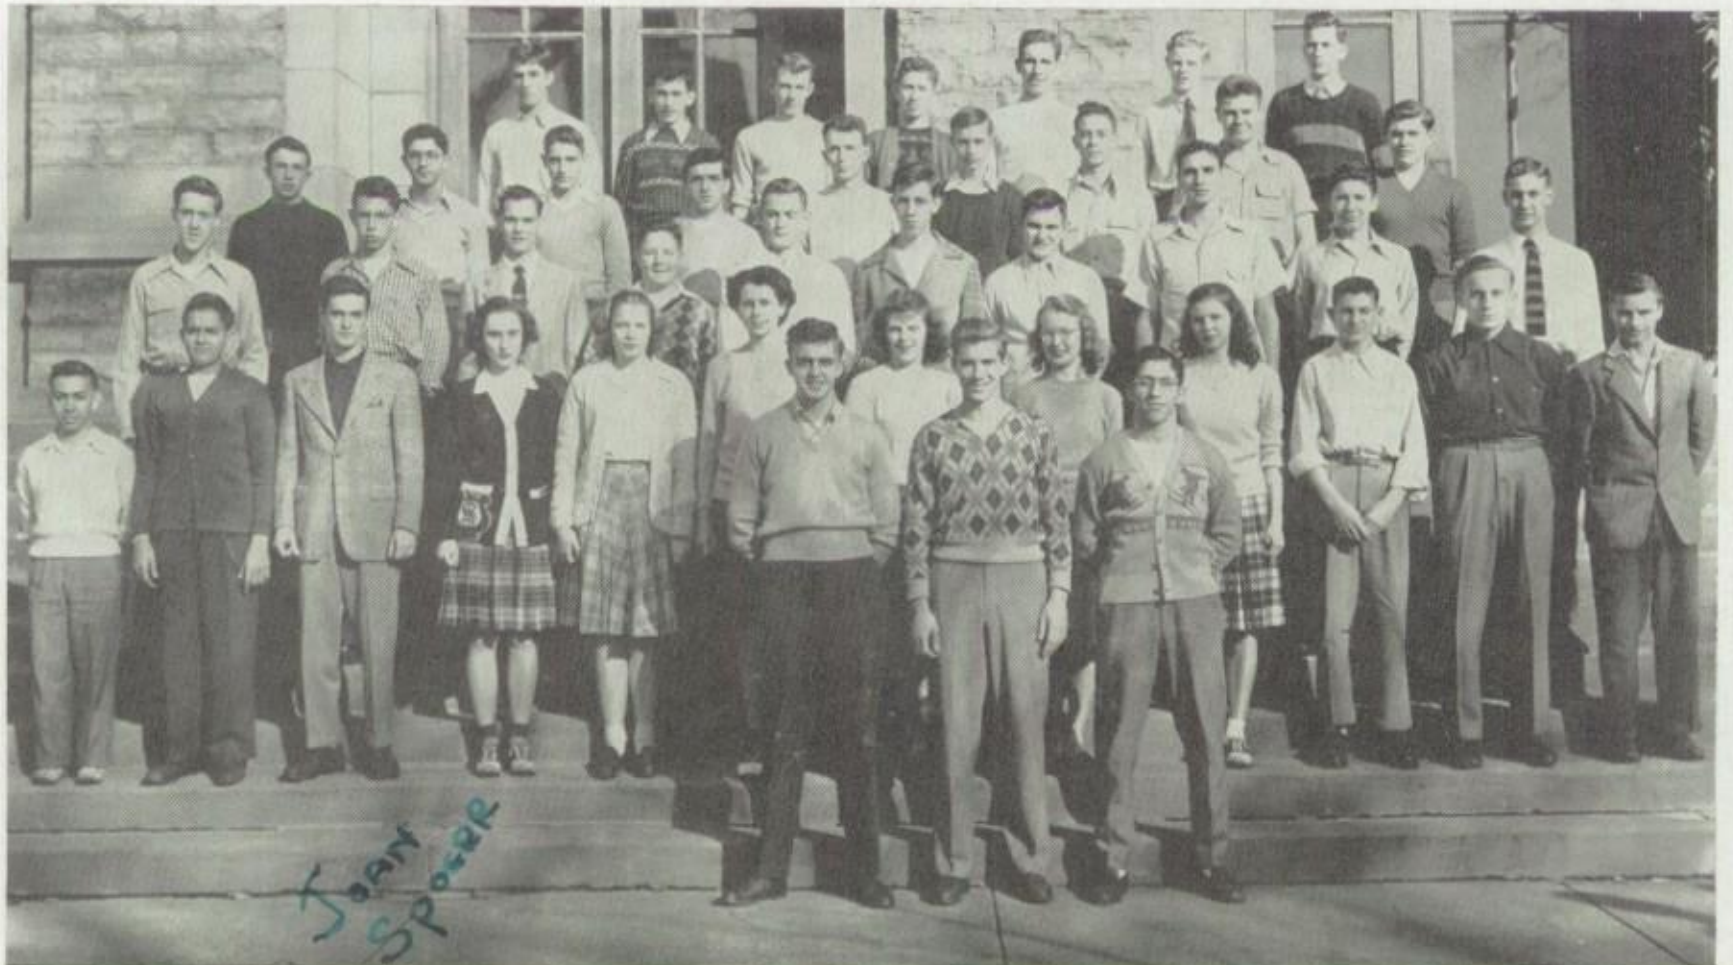

There is always a great deal of variety in the Math Club's programs. This is the reason for its rather large membership which is larger than many similar clubs in the state. Some of the outstanding speakers this year were Mr. Kenneth Curtis, a prominent insurance man from Sandusky, who told the club many of the interesting details of the insurance business. Mr. Lester Lanning, representing New Departure, gave an interesting talk concerning the origin of his company and the types of work done there. His talk was illustrated with a motion picture of the production of ball-bearings. Mr. Richard Wennes, a well known Sandusky attorney, spoke on mortgages, land contracts, loans, property, and checks.

A question period usually follows these programs during which many points are discussed informally but thoroughly.

President Jack Carney is supported in office by Vice President Jim Mielke and Secretary Frank Valli. Jean Shepherd and Bob Smith represent the club in the Student Council. The sponsors this year are Mr. Ruff, Miss Reiff, Mr. Blancke and Mr. Schropp.

PROGRESSIVE COMMERCIAL CLUB

Every second and fourth Tuesday of the month finds the members of the Progressive Commercial Club climbing hopefully to the third floor of the old building for the regular meeting of that organization.

More than twenty-five years ago, the Commercial Department of Sandusky High School was expanded with the addition of such courses as bookkeeping, commercial law, secretarial practice, and the like. Soon after, the need for a commercial club was felt. This club, therefore, has been in existence for twenty-five years.

The purpose of this club is to familiarize its members with the conditions and problems of the business world in general. Its practical nature is shown in its study of business opportunities and requirements in Sandusky and vicinity. It tries to determine what kind of jobs are attainable here and the kind of training necessary to hold positions here. Under the leadership of Mr. Kuldau, Miss Loudenslagel, Miss Pittman, and Mr. Yapple, this program has moved forward successfully.

Our programs have called in guest speakers to present to the club various types of business. One of these speakers, Mr. R. F. Hanlon, from the Credit Bureau, told about the work of the bureau, what it is, and how all accounts are handled. He surprised members of the club when he told them how important it is to have credit established. Another speaker was Mr. A. C. Routh, Jr., president of the Esmond Dairy, who gave some excellent pointers on how to get a job, and how to hold it.

To vary the programs, and to make more vivid the importance of behavior in business procedure, a play was given which amused but also instructed the members in what a stenographer should and should not do. Another play, presented in the spring, gave the club a very pointed lesson in the necessity of established credits. Other club meetings were enlivened by movie shorts and recordings which had to do with business etiquette.

To gain membership in the club, a student must be either a junior or a senior who is interested in the field of commerce. This year the club differs from other years, in that the students to be eligible for membership, need not carry a commercial subject. This policy seems to have given life to the club, as the membership has greatly increased. Many of the students who are taking college preparatory courses do not have time for commercial subjects, and yet they are interested in, and can use the practical knowledge of business affairs offered in these club programs.

The officers of the Progressive Commercial Club this year were as follows: president, Jean Hottmann; vice-president, Marian Gierich; and secretary-treasurer, Pat Powell.

SWAN CLUB

Membership in this club is confined to those girls who enjoy swimming and desire to learn to swim in a more graceful and rhythmic manner. These girls must be able to swim well and know how to do such things as back-dolphins, surface-dives, and stroking.

As a group they learn ballet swimming patterns in which they do their dives and strokes in time to appropriate music. Duets are sometimes worked out by two members having similar swimming abilities. They pick their own music and work out patterns to go with it.

Meetings are held Thursday nights for one hour at the Junior High School pool where their formation swimming is planned. These girls get little recognition for their accomplishments since their only performance is before an audience on Sports Day, sponsored by the G. A. A.

CHESS CLUB

Another of the school's extra-curricular activities is the Chess Club, sponsored by Dr. Ernst Speyer. When Dr. Speyer was unable to attend the meetings, Mr. Paul Laning was in charge. The Chess Club held its meetings every Wednesday in Room 100. Tom Goodsite was elected president of the club. The other officers were David Fitz, vice president and Joe Guerra, secretary-treasurer.

The chess board and men were furnished by Dr. Speyer. In addition, he secured books in order that the members might learn the fundamentals of the game. He helped them with the difficult moves and different openings that are necessary to know in order to play a good game of chess. The members practiced these moves and openings until they had them mastered.

After the game had been thoroughly learned by the members of the club, they held a tournament, in which the winners were awarded prizes that consisted of chess boards, men and chess literature. The number of students interested in chess is not large, mainly because chess is a very difficult game to learn. The prime objective of the club is to enable each member to play an expert, winning game of chess.

A yearbook, to a Senior, represents a past that he can never recapture and a past that he never wants to forget. For that reason, one of the most important organizations at Sandusky High School is the Fram Staff.

Membership is open to any Senior or Junior student. There are many different branches of the Fram Staff, enabling each student to find work in the field in which he is most interested. Naturally, those students aspiring toward journalism become members of either the Editorial staff or the Biography staff. Boys and girls interested in the financial end of the yearbook join the Advertising or Circulation staffs.

There are countless problems continually arising in the production of a yearbook. For instance, a certain number of pictures have been planned for the book, yet there is no school photographer to take them. The printer has issued a deadline which seems impossible to meet. Or the leather for the covers comes in every color except the class colors, and furthermore nobody has the right size paper. What happens then? Everybody bites his pencil a little harder, really pitches into the work, and the "Fram" finally does go to press.

A vast amount of credit should be given to the teachers who sponsored the "Fram" and to those students always willing to give up their spare time so that the other students of Sandusky High School could have the book which represents their school, the "Fram".

B A N D

Under the capable leadership of Mr. Byron Aldrich, Sandusky High's 85 piece band received much acclaim for its performances this year.

First on the schedule of the organization's duties is preparation for the football season. Marching practices under varying weather conditions prove to the band members that theirs is no light-hearted hobby without arduous labor. Stormy weather changes its significance as a routine musical composition and becomes a reality often endured during these sessions.

But the ovations of the football crowds, the snappy marches and inspiring formations, the striking blue uniforms moving in unison over the Strobel Field turf, and the hushed reverence during the playing of the Alma Mater, repay the musicians in full for their hours of practice. Visiting bands, as well as the crowds, usually agree on the high caliber of the local organization.

Then, in the wake of pigskin glory, old man winter comes marching in. Nevertheless, the end of a season does not mean relaxation on the part of the band. Instead, overtures become the key works of the members and tedious preparation for the series of winter concerts begins. An appreciative audience is always on hand for the Sunday afternoon concerts which are presented at intervals during the school year. In addition, the band also provides concerts for Junior and Senior High students.

The traditional "pepping up" duty of the band is again introduced during the basketball season. During these events, with interscholastic competition at its peak, the bars of the popular "fight" songs ring out through the Junior High gymnasium. Not soon to be forgotten are the rousing measures of "On Sandusky", played during the final seconds before the opening whistle.

While basketball equipment is being stored for another summer, the band is applying last-minute touches for its part in the annual Spring Music Festival. This event and occasional parades keep the group busy throughout the pre-summer season.

Then, when white sails appear against blue skies and students are bidding a temporary "good---by" to high school routine, the vacation practices begin. A number of open-air concerts are presented to the public during the summer and the year-round cycle of the band is completed.

One private lesson a week is given to each band member, and band letters are awarded for two years of service. These emblems are made up of blue lyre on a white background, and the right to wear one of them is an honor and distinction coveted by many and really earned by only eighty-five.

DANCE BAND

Sandusky High School is proud of its musical organizations. One of these which is composed of student volunteers is the dance band. This organization has served up the necessary rhythms for dances this many a year.

These student musicians can be heard "giving out" with the modern tunes at school and club dances, after basketball games and the annual school plays.

Every Thursday after school, anyone walking through the lower halls can hear these "jive artists," giving in painstaking rehearsal, their interpretation of the popular tunes of the day.

This year, as last, Joanne Koehler, Marylin Mears, and Martha Pheiffer sang with the dance band. This added attraction is quite popular with the student body and gives Sandusky High School's dance band greater distinction. The girls practice with the dance band after school hours also. Besides singing for the dance band the girls are in the A Cappella Choir and the school's sextette. Many of the selections sung are dedicated to members of the athletic organizations and are sung by request of the students or returned alumni.

Mr. Byron Aldrich, head of the Instrumental Music Department, is the able leader of these musicians. As in all good things, difficulties arise, of course. So it is in music. But with patience and determination Mr. Aldrich smooths out these difficulties with the members.

These players do their practicing after school hours and do not receive additional scholastic credit. They are important in the social life of Sandusky High School, however, and their reward is in the pleasure they give to others.

Someday it is probable that a few of these members will have a dance band of their own and may be as well known as Guy Lombardo, Sammy Kaye, Jimmy Dorsey, Harry James, or other popular dance bands of today.

ORCHESTRA

When you hear an orchestra playing, you don't realize the weeks of preparation that go into staging a concert. The scores to be played are picked out by the conductor and then the practice starts. Sometimes a phrase is played over a hundred times before the effect is satisfactory.

Many violinists in our orchestra have been playing the violin since they were in the fourth grade. Orchestral music began for them in Jr. High school. There they were members of the Jr. High Orchestra. This year two promising violinists from this group played with the Sr. High Orchestra.

A change was made in the schedule of the orchestra this year. In the past the string section had practiced alone three times a week, and the entire orchestra, including the band members, rehearsed on Wednesdays and Fridays. However, this year orchestra practice was held only twice a week for all members which left no extra time for separate rehearsals of the string section.

The orchestra, under the capable direction of Miss Brewer, performs each year for various school activities, such as plays. Because the two day a week rehearsal was insufficient, the orchestra was not able to give as many concerts.

For two years' service in the orchestra, its members are awarded a letter. Usually violinists coming into the orchestra for the first time are put into the second violin section. After playing second violin for two years, if they have steadily progressed, they are moved into the first violin section.

Orchestra, as many people do not realize, counts as a major subject. Although it is not as popular as the band, it is regarded as a form of learning as well as musical entertainment. Classical music counts toward rounding out a cultural education, which is very important in the life of a well-informed adult.

The A Cappella Choir, under the direction of Harold C. Kaufman, has enjoyed another very satisfactory season. This year the Choir numbers seventy members. To be eligible for choir, a student must have had a year's study of music, either instrumental or vocal.

Within the Choir there are two sub-groups, the Girls' Sextette and the Boys' Quartette. These two groups not only take part in concerts that the Choir gives but also present short programs alone for outside groups.

The highlight of this year, as in previous years, was the annual Christmas Candlelight Concert. This was given three times, this year; on December 18 for Junior High pupils, December 19 for the public, and December 20 for the student body of our own school. Carrying their lighted tapers before them, the choristers advanced in processional toward the Christmas stage glittering with giant snowflakes that seemed floating in the air around and above two giant evergreens. And in that setting the old, loved carols and many new ones made a joyous occasion. To many of the graduates, this concert is the fondest memory of Sandusky High School days.

In addition to the Christmas concert, the Choir presents an Easter program for our own students. The Choir always has a conspicuous part in the Spring Music Festival, which is promoted every year in the city. For various clubs and businessmen's organizations within the city and in neighboring towns, the choristers have been glad to put on special programs. A rare occasion—in fact, it comes once in a hundred years—was the pilgrimage to our neighboring town, Milan, to take part in a program, February 9, honoring the one-hundredth birthday anniversary of Milan's renowned son, Thomas A. Edison.

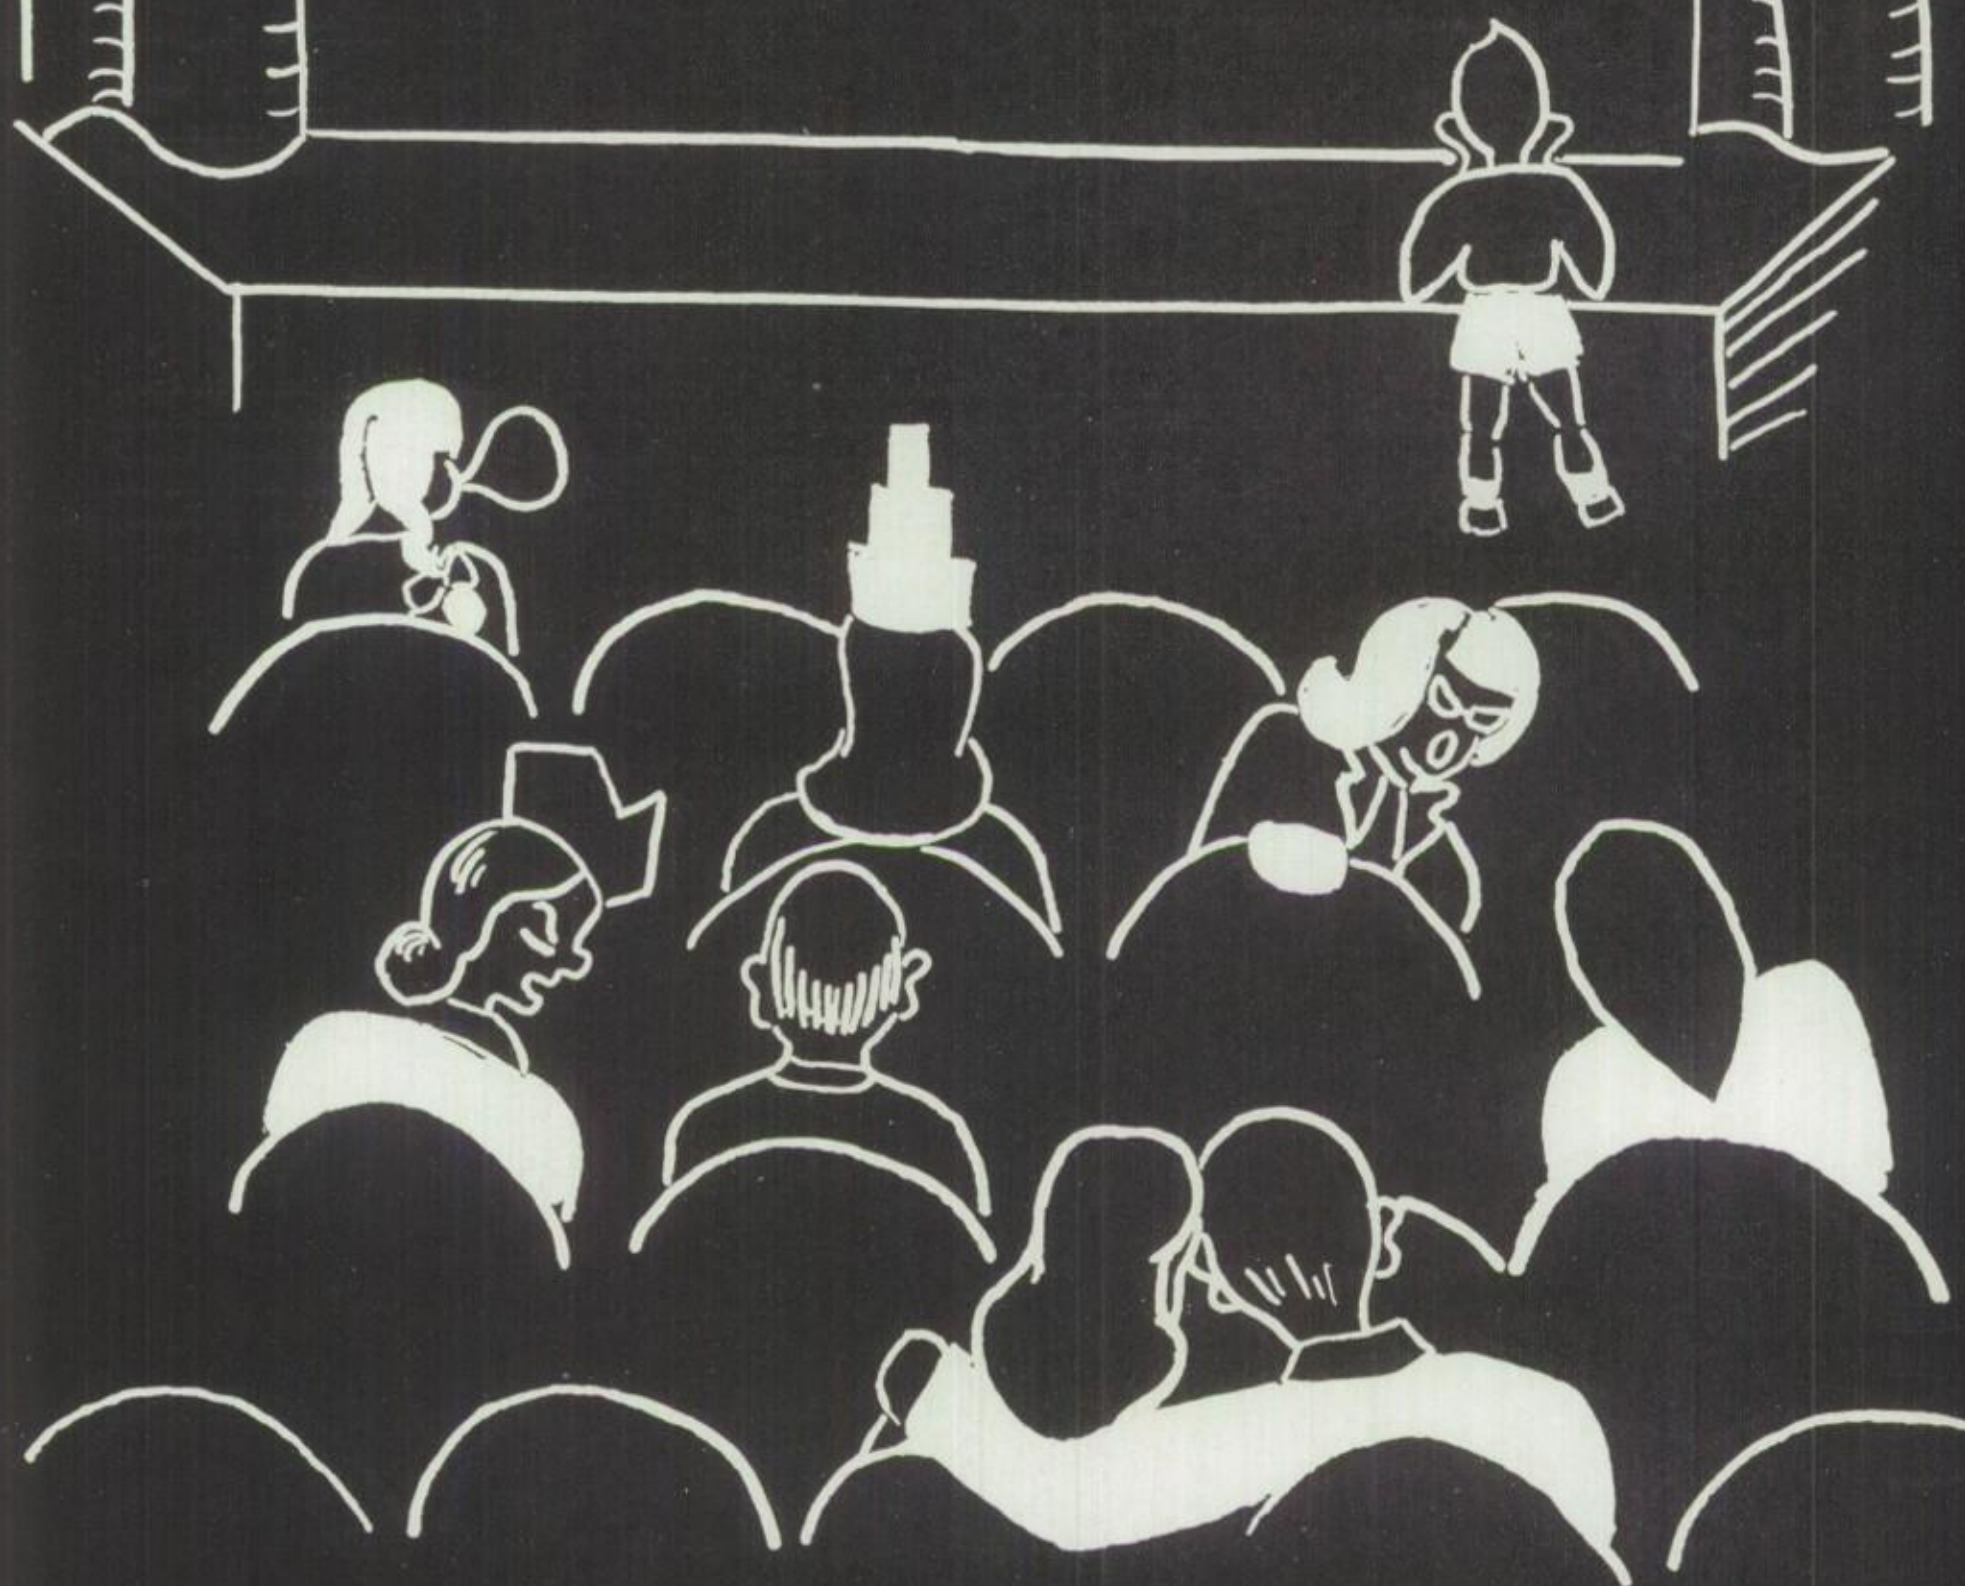

It has long been a custom and something of a reward for a good year's work to give the Choir a trip to Cleveland for the Metropolitan Opera. Sometimes because of rationed tickets, the freshmen are denied this privilege, but all Choir members look forward with eagerness to this outing every year in their upperclassmen days.

Officers in charge of the Choir during the past year were Jack Carney, president; Betty Feiszli, secretary; and Jeanne Riccelli, treasurer.

Someone saw a robin, and we all had that ailment known as "spring fever," so we were sure that those days (when a young man's fancy lightly turns to looking out of the window) were here to stay. Easter arrived with the spring play, "Junior Miss", not far behind it. Then the high and mighty seniors staged the mock convention, and we decided we wanted to be in politics so that we could lead an exciting life!

The year was drawing to an end. Final exams were creeping up and the Senior Play came and went. Suddenly we were handed an envelope we were sophomores! We were entitled to a "free" vacation for three months! Ah, sweet bliss! and we shed no parting tears!

SOPHOMORE YEAR

In September, 1944, we tramped back to the familiar homerooms and "hand carved" desks. We compared our summer experiences and even patted the "little" freshmen on their heads. More clubs were open to us now.

This year wartime transportation restrictions were lifted and again we had an inter-scholastic football schedule. How we screamed, "Fight, Team, Fight" and "On Sandusky." Our team tried their best, which was what we all wanted. The Choir had a Hallowe'en party, where everybody from Little Bo Peep to Marley's Ghost appeared. The G. A. A. put on their annual Pigskin Parade. We were quite amazed to find that we had a couple of Fred Astaires and Ginger Rogerses in our class. The Dramatic Club made a hit with their Thanksgiving Play, "Don't Take My Penny." Then came vacation with plenty of turkey and dressing and all the fixin's.

After vacation we settled down to studying World History and Caesar in Gaul. We did take time out for "The Deer Trot", a dance sponsored by the Student Council. The profits were generously presented to the Community and War Funds. The seniors and juniors booked up our Friday nights with dances too. The Home Ec. Club proved that a way to anybody's heart is through his stomach when they sold home-baked pastries at their dance, "The Sweetheart Swing."

At last the snow began to fall, reminding everyone that Christmas was here. We had been at school only one hour after Christmas vacation, when Mr. Blough decided to dismiss us because of the drifting snow. We didn't know whether he had made a New Year's resolution to be kind to us slaves, or whether it was a false alarm. Anyway we grabbed our wraps and ran! But we were soon back into the swing of things. Our basketball team kept us busy on Friday nights. Our spring play, "Tomorrow the World", made us think about the war a little, and the things we were fighting for. The Easter Bunny and the Choir concert marked the spring recess, but we were back at school before we knew it. Everybody was rushing to bring up final grades.

The Senior Class presented the play, "Old Doc." Suddenly, the seniors were gone, and we weren't sophomores anymore, but juniors, looking forward to upperclassman days the next fall.

Our class will probably never go down in history, but the year 1945 will. The war in Europe and the war in the Pacific were brought to an end, and with these surrenders came the peace we would have to maintain.

JUNIOR YEAR

Juniors! Ah, how sweet the sound! We were upperclassmen and the seniors were no longer antiques but companions and equals (well, almost)! We held elections, a close competition, which made Bob Sprau president, Joe Buder vice-president, and Peggie Miller secretary.

Interscholastic football made its appearance again. Strobel Field vibrated with "Hold That Line" and "All Hail the Blue and White." The fellows on the field really heard us (they could hardly help it), leading us to an eight out of ten season. Then the "Pigskin Parade" and the "Diploma Dilemma" came along to keep our feet busy, while the teachers managed to keep our minds occupied. The Thanksgiving Play, "Sing For Your Supper", was a big success.

The Christmas season gave some people rest, but most of us were too busy dancing, standing under mistletoe, or displaying our Christmas presents to find much time for relaxation or schoolwork. The fellows went down to Battery Park to try the ice, only to find it was better weather for swimming.

New Year's must have found our basketball team making resolutions to capture the District Championship, because that's just what they did. We were bursting with pride! While our basketball team was making a name for itself, our swimming team was breaking records. But it was their unbroken spirit that took them to Columbus, where they captured the state title. Our cup was running over, and so was our trophy case!

While mothers were administering doses of sulfur and molasses, teachers were administering doses of American History and American Literature. However, the spring play, "No Way Out," was an easy dose to take. The Easter concert sent us home for a few days' recreation and then back to work again. The May Festival, the Student Talent Program, and the senior play, "The Visitor", reminded us that school was almost over. We saw the seniors get their diplomas and their places seemed to be filled by us. Three down and one to go! We wondered if we'd be sorry to leave too.

SENIOR YEAR

It's strange how ideas can change over a period of four years. Seniors weren't quite like the rest, we used to think. They were . . . well, sophisticated! But the fall of 1946 found us the same people we had been in the fall of 1943. Some of the boys had grown taller and the girls a little slimmer; we'd found how much we didn't know about things; and there were veterans added to the class. But fundamentally we were the same excited kids we used to be.

There's something very friendly about the senior homerooms. After we'd had our seats changed three times, we began assuming a definite "I belong" attitude and an interest in other students. We elected Bill Lange, Bob Sprau, and Peggie Miller as our officers. The seniors held their own in Student Council with Joe Buder, president; Jack Blough, vice-president; and Gwen McNutt, secretary.

The football season showed us that we had a team with a fine school spirit. November brought a couple of good movies to school as well as the traditional Pigskin Parade. Our senior class added a "serious (?) note" when they presented the "Funnies Flutter." The Dramatic Club earned a cordial nod of approval for its fine production of "January Thaw." We all agreed that the Thanksgiving vacation couldn't have had a better send-off.

After Thanksgiving, we gave really serious thought to our studies, keeping in mind the old adage: "Better late than never." Then before we knew it, we were listening to the familiar Christmas carols as only the A Capella Choir can sing them.

Vacation passed as rapidly as it had come. Soon we were plunged into a frenzy of basketball games and swimming meets. A film on manners and etiquette proved to us that we all needed less of "little Abner" and more of "Emily Post". We ordered our graduation announcements and were measured for caps and gowns. We began to think that maybe the "Great Day" was not so far off after all.

March did "come in like a lion," bringing auditorium programs and dances with it. Easter was early this year. Perhaps it was just as well, for we all had been working hard. After vacation the school was buzzing with "What are you going to do after you graduate?" and "What are you going to wear to the reception?" The spring play, "A Date with Judy", showed us how "our half" lives. We spent hours working on the Senior Reception and more hours just talking about it. At last the great night, April 24, did come. Everybody was at his best. We proved that a class can really do something special together if they put their minds to it. It was a tired, but happy group of seniors that came to school the next day.

While our track team was getting a good workout, the rest of us tried to cram everything into our last months of high school . . . parties, dances, plays, movies, programs!! May found us studying for exams and beginning to think about our plans for the future. The Senior play, "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay", seemed to rouse a kind of nostalgic longing. Could it have been for our four years in Sandusky High School, now past and gone? The last week swept us into a mad rush involving caps and gowns, exams and commencement rehearsals.

Then on June 5th we silently filed into the Junior High School auditorium to receive our diplomas. We looked around us, and saw, maybe for the last time, the people with whom we had spent the four best years of our lives. We had the same empty feeling in the pit of the stomach that we had in September of 1943, only this time we weren't standing on the doorstep of Sandusky High School; we were standing on the doorstep of our lives.

WEL'LL ALWAYS REMEMBER

Mr. Aldrich's unique method of directing, his attitude toward freshmen . . .

Weekly proverbs and sayings on Miss Bach's board . . .

The winning ways of Miss Balduff . . .

The way Miss Beis taps her desk with a pencil for "quiet" . . .

Appealing personality of Mr. Bowman . . .

Miss Burket's pleading, "Now, please be quiet!" . . .

Miss Homegardner's clapping her hands . . .

"Shakespearean quotations," pleasing personality of Miss Howell . . .

Mr. Kaufman's patience . . .

Watchfulness of Mr. Kulda in the halls, uncanny sense of humor . . .

Mr. Laning's "Indian-fashion" way of sitting on a table, German, enthusiasm when reading.

Ability to speak French and Spanish fluently, exquisite taste in clothes, pleasing personality of Miss Lehman . . .

Coach Malinovsky's great enthusiasm during games, seriousness in class . . .

The pleasing smile of Miss Mercure and her excellent teaching of Spanish . . .

Miss Pittman's interest in every student, willingness to help all . . . 2 hour "awards"

Green aspirin bottle on Mr. Ruff's desk, jokes, history of Sandusky.

"Applesauce," "very good," and "in the depression," sayings of Mr. Walker . . .

Mr. Whitney's low voice, own ideas . . .

Interesting physics classes conducted by Mr. Winkler, his love of motors, sense of humor . . .

Mr. Yapple's "personal experiences" . . .

CLASS WILL

Having completed our journey through the halls of learning provided by our forebearers and known as the Sandusky Public School System, we, the undersigned, hereby make a self-serving declaration that we are of sound mind, sufficient memory and understanding to have testamentary capacity with relation to the disposition of certain personal possessions, characteristics, idiosyncrasies, and hereditaments.

Since it might be questionable as to our full realization of those depending upon our natural bounties, and since, at best, the quality and character of those items hereinafter bequeathed are of tenuous and dubious substance, the undersigned hereby compose this precatory instrument and designate, denote and name it our last will and testament, hereby waiving any claim for revocation of any previous instruments by way of testament or codicil thereto heretofore made by us, as it is obvious from the content of this instrument that testamentary capacity is just attained by the majority of those of us hereto subscribing our names:

I WILL AND BEQUEATH TO

Ann Tittle . . . My natural curly hair to help her on those damp mornings . . Beverly Filson
Shirley Kelley . . . My many hours spent in Room 128 . . . Bette Burdue
Nancy Lydens . . . My position in the book room . . . Audrey Babcock
Doris Reinke . . . My seat in the sax section every 6th period . . Anne Cronenberger
Don Henry . . . My ability to hit the right notes in choir . . . Don Bohanan
Mr. Winkler . . . One good woman driver . . . Girls in the first period physics class.
Jack Shaffer . . . My ability to forever be the cause of misunderstanding and hard feelings . . . Earl Page Elwod Clemens . . . All my athletic ability which he needs . . . Bruce Alexander
Dick Zigmond . . . My red hair . . Dick Parker
Donna Harpst . . . My ability to write shorthand

. Pat Powell
Paula Bogart . . . My unpopular short skirts . . . Jody Reckinger
John Emery . . . My pointed chin . . Bob Smith
Barb McCullough . . . My well-worn saddle shoes . . . Dot Krebs
Joyce Baker . . . My nose, which she needs . . . Eleanor Young Marilyn Bogert . . . My sarcasm . . Lois Kruger
Bob Knapp . . . My ability to go steady so long with one girl . . . Bob Sprau
Carol Buchholz . . . My record breaking races with the tardy bell . . . Janice Huntley
Jack Carnes . . . My grin, which he never liked . . . Ralph Hartman
Kenny Zorn . . . My hair to help him stop twisting and curling his . . . Dick Gundrum
Jim Blough . . . My bubble gum, hoping he can blow bubbles without getting caught . . . Gerry Canino
Dave Fitz . . . My position as football manager . . . Jim Robison
My fondness for loud tires . . . Dave Fries
All the harsh words that entered my ears during the past four years . . John Biechele
My yawn to anyone who can handle it . . . Stan Trail
My habit of chewing gum at the wrong time . . . Betty French
My size "12" work shoes . . . Jack Blough
A half dozen of my sisters to argue with . . . Martha Pietschman
My age and beard to the youngest fellow in the freshman class . . . Jack Seder
My football shirt to a future "Center" . . . Jack Carney
My position as school pianist . . Jean Hottman

Inasmuch as the foregoing items constitute a bequest specifically made by the respective donors whose names appear appended thereto, and whereas, any further signatory requirements would be surplusage and therefore of no further avail in carrying out the requirements this testament is concluded without further formal fribble.

THANKS FOR THE MEMORIES

Of our four most pleasant years,
Sipping cokes and shedding tears
Because of teachers' tests and quizzes
Gals complaining: dates were fizzes,
The Friday basketball school dances
And also—Monday morning classes!

Yes, thanks for the memories
Of "him" or "her" (it doesn't matter)
Chased from lockers by the teachers,
The students' seats upon the bleachers.
Remember meetings at the Park;
Ohly's also left its mark.

Yes, thanks for the memories
Of pink slips saying we were late—
The office girl who held your fate;
The Honor Student Study Halls;
And room two-hundred's pictured walls;
Our '46 Champ Swimming Team;
(Those guys were really on the beam.)

Yes, thanks for the memories
Of this year's grand, old Senior Class,
Of every Senior, lad and lass.
Wonder if teachers thought of heaven
While teaching the class of '47?

HITS OF 1947

Cuban Pete,

I've Told Every Little Star that Without
You I'm Laughing on the Outside Crying on the Inside From This Day Forward,
You'll Keep Coming Back Like a Song,
Till the End of Time. I Don't Care Who Knows It, I Don't Know Enough About You.

Do You Remember, The Things We Did
Last Summer? you said, If You Were the Only Girl—but that was Long Ago and Far Away, and now, It's The Talk of the Town, but Oh What It Seemed To Be.

I Put the Blame on Mame. More Than You Know, cause She's Funny That Way. I guess She was Doing What Comes Naturally, For Sentimental Reasons.

I guess It's Better To Be By Yourself,
All the Time, when There's No One But You.

A La Mode

Hey, Mac, pipe that sharp character in the corduroy sport coat. Style? What's the matter, you got holes in your head? That boy's toggery is strictly out of this world. Knit ties (with windsor knots, natch), ski sweaters, loafers, tweeds, heavy brogues, drapes, Argyle sox, plaid shirts, pork-pie hats, spread collars, letter sweaters, and loud ties (the louder the better)—all these are necessary for a fellow who wants to be "toggled to the bricks".

Our high school gals are becoming more conscious of neatness. Plaid skirts are still being worn, but it looks as though they are being overtaken by straighter, tighter longer skirts. Short sleeved sweaters are replacing the "sloppy joes." Then, if you'll look downward, you will see hose and neat, sling-back, suede shoes instead of moccasins and saddle shoes with bobby socks; and for outside wear, the new stadium boots are taking over for last year's military boots. Yes, keep your hopes up, boys, and soon you will have a little package all wrapped up in neatness, that you can call your "Sal", with her consent, of course.

LET'S LOOK BACK AND LAUGH

Herbert Hoelzer will never forget the day he broke that school window . . . What a surprise when Helen Fitzhum's gum fell out while Helen was talking to a teacher . . . John Biechele will never disobey a study hall monitor. It seems that he refused to go to the office and suddenly went by air-mail . . . Horrors! When Marian Gierich's stocking fell down as she got off the bus . . . "Are you in love?" asked Miss Reiff of Tom Flippen . . . Joan Bohley will never criticize teachers. They're apt to hear, aren't they? . . . Some teachers aren't so bad, especially after one presented Joyce Burns with a box of Whitman's Samplers on the last day of her junior year . . . These girls that fall over the curbing in front of Ohlys. How about it, Anne Cronenberger? . . . "Never will I absent-mindedly start to take off my sweater at my locker," said Beverly Filson . . . Theresa Fresch won't forget the day she walked into a boys' hygiene class . . . Looking at a certain someone, Marjorie Bird fell up the steps . . . That twenty-five cents' worth of lollypops was for Robert Betz, who won low score prize in the '45 Head Pin Tournament . . . These teachers that look just like pupils seem to bother Dick Runkel . . . Mr. Winkler really had to work to get Jack Blough's car out of his drive when it got stuck . . . Scaring a teacher, thinking her a friend, can prove embarrassing we learn from Marilyn Boren . . . Arnold Burns really did blush when a girl called him "Darling" in front of class . . . "It's bad to have a brother whose girl slaps you for something he said," said Charlie Page . . . And Earl Page is sometimes mistaken for his brother by his brother's girl friends . . . What a day when Paul Pooch fell asleep in English class and fell out of his seat . . . Ask Katie Rausch about Commercial Club and rolling on the floor in front of Mr. Kuldau . . . It's no joke answering for a girl during roll call, is it, Harry Reisch? . . . Eleanor Young really did swallow a pebble during play rehearsal . . . Being locked in your locker isn't too pleasant we learn from Beanie Sloan . . . Did you know that Pat Smith reported to her junior homeroom when she was a senior? . . . Bob Sprau was almost inducted into the army while on a football trip to Cleveland Show . . . How did that projector grease work, Pat Ryan, that Mr. Pyson told you was a new kind of hand lotion? Square dancing is enjoyable, Martha Root, especially when your partners are Mr. Walker and Mr. Pyson . . . It doesn't pay to be tardy the last day of school, for Helen Johnson had to make it up the next day

. . . Some people, as Robert Hottenroth, even get up for school on Saturdays . . . Long hair is troublesome when it gets caught on the buttons of a fellow's jacket during a program, you'll learn from Joan Glick . . . Donna Glover doesn't lock herself in the mimeograph room anymore . . . "Ralph, everytime I come into class you're hiding behind a girl's skirt," Mr. Pyson told Ralph Hartman . . . Mr. Kaufman almost gave Lynette Geiser a black eye when she stood behind him while he was directing . . . Tom Thom knew where the girls' locker room was after he happened to walk into it by mistake, when a freshman . . . Joe Buder announced that "Miss Mason will present the hoccer and sockey awards" . . . Mr. Weis thought that Louise Still meant him when she called someone "Honey" . . . It was embarrassing for Joe Kuldau when he ate potato chips in front of a "girl" only to find that she was a teacher . . . That brute of a senior really hurt Ann Cooper's foot when he stepped on it as she walked down the hall barefoot . . . They say Joanne Koehler got caught sliding down the bannisters . . . Jeanne Icsman really left Mr. Glenwright in the dark when she turned off the lights in the office one night . . . "Never skip sixth period," Marg Carroll and Gerry Canino will tell you . . . They called Dick McGrain "Mr." on his first day at school . . . Asking to report on "Forever Amber", Jim Mann got a good bawling out . . . Teachers that look like students bother Jack Van Blarcum, too. He asked one for her ticket to a movie once . . . How would John Wagner know that G. A. A. was a girls' organization until he went to join it, when a freshman? . . . Nancy Schneider favored Mr. Kuldau with a rendition of our version of the Notre Dame song . . . Can you imagine Joanne Meckstroth mistaking John Keats for "Jack Frost" during an English Literature test? . . . What an entrance! Marilyn Mears started to slide into her seat in American Literature class only to find her seat wasn't there . . . The girls "wowed" Russell Meisler. In fact he ran into the trophy case watching them . . . Who was that fellow senior who thought Fuzz Ebert was a teacher and asked her what subject she taught? . . . A chair is to sit on and not to tip over, Carol Metzler . . . Knocking over a pitcher during a play performance proved a tragedy for Betty Feiszli . . . Bill Schlottag teasingly threatened to send Miss Balduff to the office and turned to find Mr. Blough glaring at him . . . Miss Loudenslagel dislikes being called "Ma" by Frank Valli . . . Wonder how Mr. Kuldau enjoyed Joyce Leimgruber's proposal during club initiation? . . . Her dad's shirt is too large, Donna Loffer discovered when it caught on a chair at play rehearsal.

Beginner's Luck

● The girl who starts in telephone work finds real beginner's luck.

She learns her job pleasantly with other beginners just like herself—possibly from her own school. She works in light, airy offices with the latest in equipment. She relaxes in beautiful lounges with friendly co-workers.

She takes home a good-sized weekly paycheck which she knows will increase steadily through scheduled raises. Her supervisors are congenial and understanding. They reached supervisory levels from beginning jobs just like hers. Promotions are made from within the ranks and today's greatly increased traffic has speeded up these promotions.

The telephone beginner strikes it lucky because she has chosen a company which earned its reputation for being "a good place to work".

The memorial plaque, dedicated to the boys of Sandusky High School who gave their lives in World War II, is one of the finest contributions ever made to our school. The students alone gave over eight-hundred dollars for this beautiful bronze tablet in a drive sponsored by the Student Council. On May 22, a dedicatory program was held in the auditorium. A short address was given to the student body, and the choir presented a brief concert. At this time the plaque was unveiled. The names and words upon this plaque constitute a great tribute to those boys of whom Sandusky High School has reason to be proud.
